THE LAW ON RIOTS,

What the Homestead Union Men Must Face.

Judge King, in 1844, Made the Important Ruling,

Which Has Ever Since Been Accepted and Followed.

Gov. Pattison Goes Among the Strikers.

Another Brigade of Troops Ordered to Move to the Scene of Action—Arrests of the Leaders in the Fatal Battle.

Pittsburg, July 19.—The attorneys for the seven strikers against whom the proceedings have been instituted, spent the greater part of last night in looking up the state laws relative to riot. On this point, a leading member of the bar in this city, and who for years made a comprehensive study of the statutes relating to the unlawful assemblages, had this to say:

"All riot laws are based on the point of law found in the charge of Judge King, of Philadelphia, to the jury in the Catholic riot cases of 1844. The judge after citing the facts in the case, said in substance that everybody who was present during the riot, participating, aiding or abetting it in any way was guilty of felonious riot, and should a death be caused by the riot, he would be guilty of murder in the first degree.

'Since this charge was made, all riot rulings have followed the law laid down in this charge.

"In the riot trials of 1877, this charge was cited as authority and in the present case, it applies even more forcibly.

"In my opinion, the men who participated in the riot at Homestead are guilty of the most felonious riot I have ever met with. Take for instance the tearing down of the sheriff's proclamation and sending away of his deputies right in defiance of the law. Then they not only assembled—but assembled in coldblood with arms and by arranged and preconcerted signals.

"Then their continued firing at boats long before they arrived and the fusilade they kept up all day long, all go to show how well arranged and managed the whole affair was. It is seldom that one comes across an uprising of this sort, which has been nursed from the very start, as this was. The Homestead riots can stand alone in history as an example of well generated riot. Riot is hardly the correct word to be used in this case for there was not much riot, taking the meaning of the word; it was rather an organized uprising."

Nothing can be said in favor of the best medicine in the world that may not be said of the most worthless. In one case, it's true; in the other, it isn't;—but how can you distinguish?

Judge by what is done. There's only one blood-purifier that's guaranteed. It's Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and this is what is done with it; if it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you get your money back. Isn't it likely to be the best?

All the year round, as well at one time as another, it cleanses and purifies the system. All blood-poisons must go. For Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Scrofula, Salt-rheum, Tetter, Erysipelas, or any blood-taint or disorder, it is an unequaled remedy.

It's the cheapest, too. With this, you pay only for the good you get.

And nothing else is "just as good." It may be better—for the dealer. But he isn't the one that's to be helped.

"Value received, or no pay,"—you can't get these terms with any other medicines, at any price.

MORE SHUT DOWN.

The Supply of Steel Giving Out in Many of the Mills

Pittsburg, July 19.—The Homestead steel works strike has indirectly caused the indefinite suspension of the Braddock wire works plant, Rankin station, and some 600 more men are out of work. The mills, nail, rod, barbed wire and wire-drawing departments, have all closed down owing to a lack of steel billets to make wire rods, and in time rails, etc.

The company will take the present opportunity and make important improvements at the plant, and eight new barbed wire machines will be put in, which means 30 additional men when the plant starts up. The company does not know when the mills will start.

A stockholder of the Pittsburg Copper Wire Co.'s works, along the Monongahela river at Braddock, stated to the reporter that unless some change for the better was made by the mills making billets and using wire rods this week, they will have to shut down the plant next Saturday, as they have no stock of material to run longer.

He said, however, that if the Beaver Falls mills stop they could use the steel billets from the source that the former got them from, and therefore be able to continue operations. About 480 men are employed there. If the mill does not have to close down, the new wire drawing mill will be started this week, employing 300 more men.

THE FIRST BRIGADE.

Reported That Additional Troops Have Been Ordered to Homestead.

Philadelphia, July 19.—It is stated here this morning that the First brigade, which has been in camp at Mount Gretna for the past 10 days, has been ordered to Homestead.

IS IT A SCHEME?

Alleged Bogus Appeals for Aid for the Homestead Men.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 19.—President Weihe, of the Amalgamated association, is considerably exercised over the circular appealing for funds in the interest of the unskilled laborers at Homestead, and which is said to have been received by the central labor union and other organizations in New York City.

If his signature is attached to the appeal, he says, then it is a forgery, and at any rate the movement lacks the countenance or support of the national lodge, through which body all appeals for assistance in behalf of the men must come.

Moreover, he says, there is no present need for the circulation of any appeal for monetary assistance. The source of origin of the document received in New York will be investigated.

ARRESTING THE STRIKERS.

Many of the Union Workmen to be Charged With Murder.

Pittsburg, July 19.—Secretary F. T. F. Lovejoy, of the Carnegie Steel company, appeared before Alderman McMasters, late yesterday, and made informations against seven of the Homestead strikers, whose arrest on the charge of murder has been threatened for several days.

The informations, although not entirely unexpected, created considerable surprise, and were the subject of conversation on the streets all afternoon and evening. They were made against Hugh O'Donnell, the leader of the strikers; John McLuckie, burgess of Homestead; Sylvester Critchlow, Anthony Flaherty, Samuel Burkett, James Flannagan and Hugh Ross, who are collectively charged with the murder of T. J. Connors and Silas Wayne, on the morning of July 6, during the riot.

Connors was a Pinkerton man, 30 years of age, and lived at 80 Bond street, New York. He was struck on the back of the head with a dynamite bomb, and had his right arm crushed. Wayne was a young single workman, who lived with his parents in Homestead. He had his head shot off with a cannon ball, fired from the opposite side of the river, while standing with his brother in the steel yard. There are two separate informations against the defendants and they vary in the names of the victims.

The informations were drawn up by Knox and Reed, the county's attorneys, Alderman McMasters immediately issued warrants for the arrest of the accused, and Constables Weber, Morris and Price left at once for Homestead to serve them.

To show that the workmen had no fear about the results of the case, Burgess McLuckie, as soon as the news reached him, sent word to Alderman McMasters that he would come to the city and surrender himself.

A rumor was at once started that counter informations are to be made against H. C. Frick, Secretary Lovejoy and Manager Potter, and the general impression is that this is only the beginning of the legal struggle at Homestead. There was considerable conjecture as to whether any of these defendants would have to remain in jail or not, until the grand jury sits in September. An attorney said the court could release them on bail, the amount of which would be determined by the evidence as to the character of the offenses and the capability of the defendants. In case Messrs. Frick, Lovejoy and Potter are arrested, they would be compelled to go to jail, or be released in the same way. Alderman McMasters said that he expected informations to be made against the managers.

The constables returned from Homestead empty handed. They were unable to find any of the accused, and will go up again.

A short time later Burgess McLuckie appeared at Alderman McMaster's office and announced that he was ready to answer the charge of murder preferred against him. The aldermen then had a commitment issued and he was placed in jail. Before going to jail McLuckie said he courted a thorough investigation. The other defendants, he said, had not left the city to escape arrest, and all but O'Donnell would be on hand. Burkett, it said, was a colored driver, and was sick in bed on the day of the riot. Crutchlow is a Butler county farmer, who formerly worked in the mill, but was away on July 6. "We propose," said he, "to give Mr. Frick a dose of his own medicine; and informations against the officials of the company are now being prepared."

It was learned later that Wm. J. Brennan, Esq., counsel for the Amalgamated association, was in conference with President Weihe, and that it was probable that informations against Messrs. Frick, Lovejoy and Potter would be made within the next 24 hours. The charge will be based on the introduction of Pinkerton men with arms.

The gloomiest night in Homestead since the Pinkertons ran the gauntlet came with sundown last evening. It was not until after dark that it became generally known that seven of the most conspicuous men in the strikers' ranks had warrants for murder hanging over their heads.

The most conspicuous of the accused, Hugh O'Donnell, was known to have left on a secret mission last night. All the others were trailed after here by three representatives of the judicial arm of the state, who slipped into Homestead during the afternoon. The quest was unsuccessful, none of the men wanted being where they could be put under arrest.

At 7:12 p. m. all the accused except O'Donnell, who was out of the state, and John McLuckie, who was understood to have given himself up at Pittsburg, assembled at the railway station to voluntarily proceed to Pittsburg to face the charges against them. After the departure of the Pittsburg officers the information that murder warrants were out was quietly conveyed to the accused by Thos. Williamson, a member of the advisory board, and few outside of the accused themselves knew at the time what the little group gathered at the depot menat. Their departure was stopped almost at the last moment. Legal advice to quietly await any call at their homes is the reason assigned by the strikers for the change of program.

Mrs. O'Donnell, the handsome, spirited little wife of the strikers' leader, was privately informed during the afternoon of the report that a warrant for murder had been issued against her husband. There was just a suspicion of a tremor in her voice as she asked the authority for the statement, and if there were any details. Upon being convinced that the report had solid foundation, and being asked as to whether there was any connection between the warrant and O'Donnell's absence, she quickly and resolutely answered: "Indeed there is not. If necessary my husband will return to Homestead immediately and stand up to the end. I expect him home Wednesday. Furthermore, he has nothing to fear. If there was any one who did what he could for peace, and to save the lives that day on the river, it was my husband."

The intensity of the wife's defense of her husband's uprightness and manliness was most pathetic, but her brave demeanor under the trying circumstances gave admiration the first place over sympathy.

She was standing in the parlor of the cheery home of which the strikers' leader is master, and it was the first intimation she had received of the new danger staring her in the face. Her prediction as to the course he would pursue seemed born of sincerity.

CARNEGIE TO ACT.

He Will Have His Union Men Indicted for Murder.

Pittsburg, July 19.—The fact that no steps have so far been taken by the Carnegie company in the direction of instituting criminal proceedings against the Homestead men who were concerned in the attack upon the Pinkertons, is not, so it is semi-officially stated, to be taken as an indication that the company proposes to remain inactive in the matter. The men who resisted the landing of the guards, and who participated in their maltreatment after their surrender, are to be prosecuted to the bitter end.

The Carnegies are simply waiting to see what action, if any, the prosecuting authorities of Allegheny county propose to take in the premises and if, after the lapse of what may be regarded as a reasonable period, there is no disposition on the part of these authorities to move in the matter, then Mr. Frick himself will take the initative and warrants will be sworn out for the arrest of every man who is known to have been on the mill property at the time of the riot.

Over two hundred names of such men are now in the possession of Knox and Reed, the attorneys for the company, and to whom the entire matter has been referred.

The specific charges to be made against the men who have been "spotted" is that of accessory to murder in the first degree.

The evidence against the ringleaders is now being sifted and put into compact form, but the attorneys will not say what they regard as the "reasonable period of waiting," but it is given out that inside of a couple of days their own side of the case will be in shape for the consideration of a grand or any other judicial or semi-judicial body.

POTTER IS CHILLY.

He Has no Use for the Workingmen or the Press

Homestead, July 19.—The committee of 21 men appointed at the mass meeting and each representing a shop in the mechanical department went to the general offices of the Carnegie company at noon to report to Superintendent Potter the action of the meeting.

They were halted outside the gate and only one man was admitted. He was G. T. Lamb, chairman of the delegation. Mr. Potter received him in a chilly manner and there was only a short talk. The committee withdrew and opened headquarters in Aller's hall, corner of Ann and Sixth streets. They immediately went into executive session to arrange for conducting the affairs of 2,000 men in the mechanical and labor departments, which they represent.

A reporter of the United Press sent a note to Superintendent Potter, who still denies admission to newspaper men, and asked him if he would inform the press how many men reported for duty this morning in response to his notice of July 15. This note was read by Mr. Potter and he declined to reply.

There is a story current here that 80 non-union workmen have arrived at Taylortown, on the B. and O. road. Nothing definite is known concerning them but a committee has been sent out by the Amalgamated association to investigate the matter. It is stated that the Twelfth regiment has been ordered into the works to do police duty. They have not gone in yet, however, and several captains in the regiment say they have not been ordered to do so.

RESTING ON THEIR ARMS.

The Machinery of the Law May be Put in Motion at Any Time.

Pittsburg, July 19.—Both sides are resting on their arms this morning, but there is no telling what moment the machinery of the law may be again put in motion.

A large crowd began to gather around the office of Alderman McMasters at an early hour and the alderman himself put in an appearance considerably earlier than usual, expecting that some of the men against whom warrants are out, would come in and surrender.

But as the hours wore on, it became evident that the much-wanted men had no such intention and this was confirmed shortly after Judge Magee had set the hearing on the question of bail for McLuckie for to-morrow when word was received to the effect that Ross and his associates would keep under cover until the hearing had taken place, when they would appear of their own volition and accompanied by bondsmen.

When this intimation had been received the constables deputized to serve the warrants asked for instructions, but were told to follow their own inclinations. Up to 11 o'clock they were in doubt whether to go to Homestead in the afternoon or await to-morrow's developments. No additional information had been laid against any of the strikers this morning although the alderman intimated that he might have some work in that line on hand later in the day.

Attorney Brennan said he doubted whether the information against Frick, Carnegie, Potter, Lovejoy and Robert and William Pinkerton would be prepared to-day, as the papers would have to be drawn with exceeding care. These prosecutions were decided upon at last night's meeting of the Homestead advisory committee. The program of the defense is to secure a long roll of bondsmen so that if the decision to-morrow is favorable, the men can be bailed out as fast as arrested, without being compelled to spend even a night in the county jail.

THE BOOMING OF CANNON

Announced the Arrival of Governor Pattison in Camp.

Homestead, July 19.—The booming of cannon a few minutes after 9 o'clock this morning announced to the citizens of Homestead that Gov. Pattison had arrived.

A large crowd had gathered at the Homestead depot and several trains from Pittsburg were watched in vain. Rain was falling steadily and it was a very disagreeable morning for the governor to make his entry.

The governor's private car was switched off at Munhall station and the governor went through the Carnegie mill to the hotel opposite the entrance.

The governor's presence was not discovered for some little time. Finally word was sent to headquarters and the brass ten-pounder in front of Gen. Snowden's headquarters responded with a salute of 17 guns.

While this was in pogress the head of the state government was driven up the steep hill in an open carriage.

Gov. Pattison's staff, who accompanied him on his visit of inspection is as follows:

Walter W. Greenland, adjutant-general; Lieut.-Col. Alexander Krumbhaar, assistant adjutant-general, Philadelphia; Col. Chambers McKibben, inspector-general, Pittsburg; Col. O. E. McClelland, quartermaster-general, Harrisburg; Col. Richard Edwards, commissary general, Montgomery county; Col. Louis W. Reed, surgeon-general, Norristown; Col. Herman Osthaus, general inspector of rifle practice, Scranton.

The aides-de-camp are: Lieut.-Col. A. J. Drexel, jr., of Philadelphia; Lieut.-Col. Rollin H. Wilbur, Philadelphia; Lieut.-Col. James Duffy, Marietta; Lieut.-Col. A. Harvey Tyson, Reading; Lieut.-Col. James S. West, Susquehanna county; Lieut.-Col. James R. Hunsecker, Norristown; Lieut.-Col. A. D. Seely, Berwick, Columbia county; Lieut.-Col. Savoy Bradley, Philadelphia; Lieut.-Col. J. M. Seigfried, Warren.

The members of the non-commissioned staff are:

Sergeant Major J. D. Worman, Harrisburg, quartermaster; Sergeant Samuel A. Bell, Clarion; Color Sergeant, Alex. W. Bergstresser, Harrisburg; chief musician, John Russ, Harrisburg.

The governor is expected to remain in camp for four days, as both the Second and Third brigades are to be inspected. Comfortable tents have been erected for the governor and his staff near the division headquarters.

The ranks of the mill men show no signs of weakening to-day. When the gates of the mill were thrown open this morning there were no applicants for work. The usual force of watchmen and clerks, and two or three foremen, were the only persons aside from the troops on guard who entered. Reports that non-union men had been smuggled in, and that some of the departments of the mill would be started at once were discredited by the strikers. They declare that extensive repairs are necessary before any work can be done, and the determined stand taken by the mechanics yesterday has made it very difficult for the works to be put in condition even if non-union steel workers were at hand to take the places of members of the Amalgamated association.

APPLYING FOR BAIL.

The Arguments Will be Made on Wednesday.

Pittsburg, July 19.—Attorneys W. K. Brennan and J. J. Cox, the legal representatives of the Amalgamated association, appeared in that branch of the criminal court presided over by Judge Chris Magee, shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, and filed application for the release on bail of Burgess McLuckie.

After a brief consultation with the attorneys the court decided to hear the application on its merits on Wednesday.

Before going into court Attorney Brennan appeared before Alderman Masters and waived a hearing on behalf of his client.

NEWS FROM COLUMBUS

Interesting Case Before the Supreme Court.

When Does the Liability of a Common Carrier Cease?—General Gossip.

Columbus, July 19.—An interesting point of law is involved in a suit filed in the supreme court. It is filed by a corporation—it is supposed for the purpose of getting a precedent. The Lake Erie & Western Railroad company brings suit against Caleb L. Hatch. It is a petition in error to the circuit court of Hancock county.

The suit was originally brought before a Findlay justice of the peace to recover $199.70, the value of his household goods and a chest of tools, shipped from Sandusky to Findlay, February 3, 1891.

The goods reached Findlay in good shape, and in accordance with the usual custom of the company Hatch was notified of their arrival. They were not called for and the company placed the goods in storage in a warehouse, which burned and destroyed the goods. Hatch sued to recover their value.

Under the common carrier law the case went to the common pleas court on appeal by the company, and its answer was that the goods were safely transported and stored, but that Hatch had neglected to call for them within 48 hours after their arrival and the company was therefore not responsible for their loss, as they were bailees without hire and had not entered into a contract for storage, and their contract as a common carrier had terminated with the arrival of the goods at their destination and after the 48 hours had expired.

A jury was waived and the case was tried to the court, who stated its conclusions of law and of fact separately, finding the goods worth $150 and that the company was liable as a common carrier. The circuit court held the same view and the company brings the case up.

A peculiar case was filed in the supreme court by Alban Coe against Aruzi A. Whitney, auditor of Morrow county, for $229.82 wrongfully paid taxes. For years the plaintiff lived in one sub-school district, but by special permission he sent his children to a special district adjoining, and without his knowledge or consent he was transferred to the special district and assessed in that district for a new school house that was building. In other words he was paying a heavy assessment for a school building in a district where he had no property. He enjoined the auditor of Morrow county from continuing him under that method, and carries to the supreme court to recover that amount which the lower court admits was wrongfully assessed upon him.

Auditor of State Poe received rather an amusing question relative to the Dow law this morning. It came from County Auditor C. B. Metcalf, at Lima, and asked: "Can temporary transfer of Dow certificate from a room to a lot on show grounds be made, or must a new place be opened?" The auditor telegraphed the reply: "Party must make application for new place and assessment under these circumstances cannot be less than $50. See section 3 of the Dow law." This particular clause was inserted in the law to stop saloon keepers from starting stands upon fair grounds, etc., by simply changing their certificates. In all cases a new certificate will be required.

Gov. McKinley and wife will return from Cleveland, where they have been visiting Hon. Mark Hanna, to-morrow. On Thursday the governor will address a soldiers' reunion at Caldwell, after which he will visit the Third regiment at Woodsdale. He will deliver an address on the 29th at Monono Lake, Wis. From there he will go to Beatrice, Neb., to speak on the 2d of August. The governor may also address the Nebraska state convention at Lincoln, Neb. August 3 and 4.

TO ESCAPE FROM THEIR CELLS.

What Might Have Been a Well Planned Delivery Foiled.

Columbus, O., July 19.—An attempt of six condemned men now awaiting execution in the state prison to escape was frustrated accidentally yesterday.

Each afternoon they are permitted to exercise in a court leading out from their cells. A guard at this time patrols the walls surrounding.

Yesterday afternoon the condemned men were playing ball, and one of them threw the ball in such a way that it fell outside. Instantly the guard dropped his gun and hurried after the ball. It would have been an easy matter for the prisoners to have secured the gun and shot the guard or held him at bay while they escaped. But Deputy Warden Playford happened to be in the annex and saw the situation. The moment the guard started for the ball he shouted to him and thus attracted the prisoners' attention. They made no attempt to escape.

THOMAS COOK DEAD.

London, July 19.—Thomas Cook, the head of the well known firm of excursion managers, is dead.

TRIALS GO OVER

Until the Regular September Term of Court.

Judge Harmon Made Such Decisions This Morning.

The Seven Indicted Councilmen Appear With Counsel.

All of Whom Think Fair Treatment Cannot be had

In the Present State of Public Feeling—City Solicitor Read Will at Once Begin Impeachment Proceedings.

It was an uneasy and restless assembly that awaited the arrival of the court in Judge Harmon's room of the common pleas court. Councilmen and lawyers could be seen, walking the floor in the corridor and court room, with bowed heads and apparently in deep meditation.

Judge Lemmon was the first to put in an appearance. On his arrival, the councilmen and their attorneys came into court anxious for proceedings to begin. There was much whispered consultation in the corner of the court room among lawyers and clients, and judging from the serious aspect of affairs, all parties concerned deemed that on the proceedings about to come up hinged the success or failure of their case.

Long before court convened the court room was well filled with curious spectators, anxious to learn something new in the sensation of the hour. The bar was well represented aside from the attorneys in the case.

Contrary to expectation, the matter was brought up before Judge Harmon alone.

When Judge Harmon had taken his seat on the bench, Prosecuting Attorney Barber addressed the court as follows:

"We have notified the councilmen and their attorneys to appear in court this morning for arraignment. Now, your honor, I stand this way with regard to fixing the time for the trial. I don't want to be understood as forcing the defendants to trial before they are ready. We are ready to go to trial at once, or any time the court may fix. One or two of the defendants have informed me that they desire a speedy trial, and I don't see why we cannot proceed at once to try the cases. It would seem to me that if these indictments are not good this matter could be settled one way or the other by motion to quash or on demurrer, which could be disposed of to-day."

Hon. J. K. Hamilton stated that he represented temporarily Messrs. Gill, Tanner and Nuendorf, who had chosen as counsel his partner, Mr. Ford, who was away from the city at present. He also stated that the circumstances under which the cases were being taken up were peculiar. The bar had been informed that the business of the court was over, excepting a few motions. A great many of the lawyers had left the city with this understanding. Mr. Ford would be away for six weeks. It was his opinion that their client should have the benefit of counsel with their attorney. He further stated that he had examined the indictments to a certain extent, and there would no doubt be questions raised by motion to quash, etc., which should be disposed of before going into the trial of the cases on their merits. The accused, he said, were representative citizens of Toledo, were men of family, and had heretofore born unblemished reputations, and had been honored by the selection of the people to hold certain city offices. They knew nothing of the nature of the evidence by which they were indicted, who had testified against them and were wholly unprepared to form a defense. He felt that time should be given to prepare for the defense, and to determine what course to pursue. He did not see the necessity of any such a great hurry. Nothing is known of the case excepting what has been reported on the streets or in the newspapers, which, in his opinion, is not always reliable.

Byron Richie, representing Mr. Doner, said he had made a hasty examination of the indictment, and doubted very much if it would stand the test of a motion to quash. However, he did not feel prepared to submit a motion to quash and asked that the court fix some time to dispose of the preliminary question, and if adverse to the defendants, set the time for the trial by jury.

Stephen Brophy stated that he represented Mr. Daly, and, like his colleague, was not prepared to go into a trial at once. Further, that at the present time public sentiment was against the defendants, and a trial now would not afford the accused justice due them.

Mr. Barber stated that there was no reason, he knew of, why the preliminary question could not be disposed of at 2 o'clock, p. m.

Judge Harmon—Would you all be ready to go into trial by the first day of next term, on the 22d day of September, providing these preliminary questions are disposed of adversely to the defendants? This court, just now, does not represent the criminal docket, and is not in a strict sense of duty compelled to try these cases. The duties of the term just closed have been arduous, and the court has labored with a view of a rest at the conclusion of the term. The court could sit the year around if the labor was graduated to that end, but to the contrary the labors of the court have been conducted with the expectation of a rest when the term ended, and have proceeded with the business with that understanding. I would feel constrained to enter upon the trial of these cases if the defendants were ready and so desired, but the court cannot help but see good reasons for not proceeding with immediate trial. It is doubtless true that public sentiment is against the accused, which might prejudice the defense, and it is possible that they might not be accorded a fair and dispassionate trial as they are entitled to. I don't know as these defendants are entitled to any more than other men, but I don't think they should be forced to go to trial.

Frank E. Wright stated that he represented the same parties. He had endeavored to communicate with Mr. Ford. At this juncture a messenger boy handed him a telegram, which proved to come from Mr. Ford, at Rockland, Me., stating that it would be simply impossible for him to go into the trial of the case for five or six weeks.

Attorney James Southard spoke next. He stated that with Mr. Guy Kinney he represented Mr. B. O. Manchester. He had just returned to the city, and had not had time to thoroughly examine the indictment. It occurred to him that questions would be raised, which would be of importance in a final disposition of the case. He was inclined to think that some preparation ought to be made in order to have full justice done all parties concerned. He had prepared a motion to quash the indictment, but as he had not examined the indictment to such an extent as he desired, he did not feel like resting upon that.

The court then suggested that the preliminary pleadings be filed so as to be disposed of on the first day of the September term.

Mr. Barber then desired that the bonds of the defendants be renewed with the condition that they appear on the first day of the September term for trial and from day to day thereafter.

The councilmen all appeared and renewed their bonds, and the court adjourned sine die.

Impeachment Proceedings.

Solicitor Read was seen by a Bee at the conclusion of this morning's proceedings in court, and the question of impeachment was raised:

'Yes, sir, I intend to bring impeachment proceedings at once. The affidavit has not yet been drafted and may not be filed to-day, but will be before to-morrow night, I assure you."

LATER REPORTS

From the Inundated Island of the Philippine Group.

Sydney, July 19.—Rumors have reached here from Tamur that there has been a volcanic eruption on the Island of Sangier, one of the Philippine group, and that most of the inhabitants have been killed. A native from the Talatee Islands, who landed at Selangen four weeks ago, brought a remarkable story to the effect that several other natives had just returned from a voyage near Sangier. They had intended to land on the island but were prevented by the sight of mountains belching forth smoke and fire. They reported that the "whole island was on fire," the water along the coast was hot, they said, of half burned wreckage, pieces of houses, and charred bodies. The whole population, estimated at about 12,000, seem to have been swept into the sea or burned, as not a living soul was to be seen. Streams of lava were still flowing toward the shore, showing the activity of the volcanoes had not abated.

The steamship Catterthon from China to Sydney, brought a similar story into port yesterday. Near Sangier, its captain said, it passed through miles of debris dissimilar from anything he had before seen at sea. Poles and sides of huts, most of them charred and broken, were mingled with such utensils as the natives of the Philippines use in cooking. Many unrecognizable objects resembling charred human trunks were also seen.

Articles of head dress in the wreckage were identified by a sailor who had lived in the Philippines as peculiar to the natives of Sangier and the near-by islands of the Philippines group. The ship was three hours and a half in passing through the wreckage.

These reports are partially credited here, although they are believed to have been exaggerated. The information of Sangier is volcanic and several small craters near the center of the island are known to have threatened activity during the last ten months.

KILLED BY A HUSBAND

Who Arrived in Time to Protect His Wife.

A Wedding Ceremony Interrupted by a Fiendish Assault at One of the Neighbors' Houses.

Chicago, July 19.—While a wedding ceremony was being conducted in the residence of John McHenry, at the corner of State and Forty-ninth streets, last night, a woman's cries for help stopped the festivities.

Jacob Ewald, who was attending the wedding with Adam Sarmelia, hastened into the former's house near by, and there they found Mrs. Gustina Ewald, in a front upstairs room, where she had been forced by an unknown man.

Ewald broke open the door, which had been locked on the inside, and, followed by Sarmelia, seized his wife's assailant by the throat, dragged him from the room to the head of the stairs and threw him bodily down the entire flight.

The man lay motionless on the first floor landing and Ewald and Sarmelia hastened below to examine his condition. He was unconscious when they reached him and died a few minutes later.

His skull had been fractured and he had sustained internal injuries.

Ewald and Sarmelia surrendered themselves to the police and were locked up pending a preliminary examination.

Mrs. Ewald told the police that while her husband was at the wedding next door the man had entered her house and had attempted to criminally assault her.

TO WATCH THE WEST.

A Branch Campaign Office May Be Established in Chicago.

Chicago, July 19.—At a meeting of the democratic executive committee yesterday afternoon, W. C. Asay, who presided, was authorized to appoint a committee to visit New York for the purpose of advising the national democratic committee to establish a branch campaign headquarters in Chicago. The committee will leave over the Pennsylvania railroad to-day.

ENJOINED THE C., H. & D.

Mr. Hafer Says the Company Can't Lease the C., J. & M.

The Proceedings in the Matter Yesterday—Another Meeting of the Stockholders to be Held in Toledo.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton stockholders were to have met at Cincinnati yesterday and ratified the lease of the C., J. & M., but somebody said "no," and that somebody was George Hafer, of Cincinnati, president of the C., L. & N. railroad, and a heavy stockholder in the C., H. & D., who filed a petition in common pleas court bright and early yesterday morning for an injunction against the proceedings.

As soon as Judge Kumler arrived the application was made to him, and, after listening to an interesting legal wrangle for several minutes he ordered the injunction.

The ground upon which the suit was brought is that the two lines are parallel a union of lines of railroad so situated being a violation of the state statutes. Hafer also claimed that the taking in of the C., J. & M. will greatly increase the indebtedness and burdens of the C., H. & D., much to the latter's detriment.

Mr. Hafer claims that a large number of other stockholders besides himself are opposed to the union of the two roads. A $5,000 bond was required of Mr. Hafer.

Lawrance Maxwell, one of the C., H. & D. attorneys denied that the roads were competing lines, and said he would file an answer raising an issue of fact.

Another meeting of the C., H. & D. stockholders will be held in Toledo July 23.

A MILLIONAIRE'S WIDOW.

New York, July 19.—Lucy Fayerweather, widow of the millionaire leather merchant, Daniel B. Fayerweather, died on Saturday night in Rutland, Vt. She will be buried in Woodlawn to-day.

Her death recalls a will contest which became a celebrated case. Mrs. Fayerweather's death will result in dividing the half a million dollars from which her income of $15,000 a year was derived among six final residuary legatees named in the deed of gift as follows: Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Columbia colleges, and the Presbyterian hospital, $50,000 each; the Woman's hospital, $250,000. This raises the benefaction to the Woman's hospital to $460,000, while Yale gets $500,000 altogether, Harvard $150,000, Princeton $150,000, and the Presbyterian hospital $100,000. All this is provided that the residue is adequate to pay the gifts in full.

CAN ONLY FLIRT WITH HIM.

Kingston, Ont., July 19.—Lieut.-Gov. Kirkpatrick will arrive here on Wednesday and will remain a month. He will sail along the Thousand islands on the same day as President Harrison and Gov. Flower. Without the permission of the governor-general the lieutenant governor does not go outside the limits of the province, and therefore cannot fraternize with the president at an American port.

HER REASON GONE

A Genuine Sensation at Newport.

Cultured Mrs. Baer Russell, of New York,

Governess in the Family of Wm. K. Vanderbilt,

Insane Over Fears for the Safety of Her Boy.

Haunted by a Feeling That Somebody is Planning to Steal Her Son, She Has Become a Raving Maniac.

Newport, R. I., July 19.—Newport had a genuine sensation yesterday when a story was circulated from one villa to another that Mrs. Baer Russell, the governess at the Wm. K. Vanderbilt villa, had suddenly gone insane and that Willie Vanderbilt had a narrow escape from injury at the hands of the woman.

The facts as told to the friends of Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt have excited great pity for the unfortunate woman who is alleged to have lost her reason. She was no ordinary governess, but a highly accomplished woman of considerable social standing in New York.

Mrs. Baer Russell was for a long time teacher of French and German at the Berkeley school in New York. Since Mr. Wm. K. Vanderbilt came to his residence at Newport, Mrs. Russell has given the lessons in the private school room on the second floor of the Vanderbilt mansion.

Mrs. Vanderbilt was highly delighted at the progress her boy Willie made.

Willie is the favorite son. To please him Mrs. Vanderbilt is said to have permitted Mrs. Russell to bring her boy—for she had a son of about ten years—to the Vanderbilt mansion.

Young Russell and Willie Vanderbilt were playmates and became greatly attached to each other. Mrs. Russell became a great favorite at not only the Vanderbilt mansion but at other houses of the wealthy here as well.

Young Russell and Willie were apt scholars and could converse quite fluently in the languages Mrs. Russell taught them. When Mrs. Russell came to Newport she took up her residence at a private cottage and later at the Aquidneck house. Every morning she visited the Vanderbilt villa leading her boy by the hand. She was seldom separated from her son.

Mrs. Russell has been quite eccentric of late and has had a decided monomania on the subject of her young son. She has confided to everyone about her that she had reason to fear that there was a plot afloat to have her son stolen from her.

She went to Mrs. Vanderbilt and told her of this imaginary plot and declared that the robbers intended to kidnap Willie Vanderbilt also. Mrs. Vanderbilt at once informed her husband. He took the story more coolly and sent for Mrs. Russell. She at once impressed him as being unduly excited, and he advised that she take a rest from her duties for a few days.

This advice she acted on, but within the past few days she has been seized with a new horror. She imagined that the wall was placed about the palace of Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt to keep away suspicious characters that were in spite of it hurking about and in hiding.

These she feared were lying in wait to seize her son and little Willie Vanderbilt.

The crisis came yesterday, when she became violent. She went to the Vanderbilt mansion early in the morning, and it is said that she created a sensational scene.

However true that may be, she became so violent that the police were called in for aid. She was carefully examined and pronounced at all events temporarily insane.

Mr. Vanderbilt has taken much kindly interest in the matter, being desirous of having Mrs. Russell put in Butler's hospital in Providence, a private retreat. She will be taken there to-day.

THE BIG MISSISSIPPI.

Report of the Year's Work to the Secretary of War.

Washington, July 19.—The Mississippi river commission has submitted its report to the secretary of war giving a detailed statement of the work accomplished in the improvement in the river during the past year and the plan of work laid out for the present year. Since the last annual report there have been no additional appropriations for legislation affecting the commission.

The distribution of appropriations of last year as given in the last report has been modified by the transfer of various sums from one object to another from time to time during the year as the demand for funds in the various branches of the work became more or less pressing.

The present high water has caused two new breaks in the river near Memphis which will be repaired during the coming season. Caving continues slowly along the bluff further down stream. It seems probable that further extension of the revetment at Greenville may be necessary in the future and the work at Lake Providence reach is to be extended in the future. The execution of the project for improvement of the Red and Archafalaya rivers is much hampered by the danger temporarily obstructing navigation. The offer of the shipping interests to relinquish the use of the old channel at Turnbull island will probably be accepted by the commission—meanwhile dredging will be resumed. The Spur dikes at New Orleans are all in good condition and appear to be accomplishing the object for which they were designed. The construction of additional spurs is contemplated. It seems that the maximum strain has been placed upon the levees that they will have to bear this year and that little if any further damage will result from the recent floods. The levees require an expenditure of several million dollars to put them in a state of reasonable security against great floods and that they should have yielded in places during the highest flood heretofore recorded is to be taken as a matter of course. In referring to the improvement of the river channel the commission condemns all devices which rely exclusively upon the current of the river for carrying away the excavated material and also condemns all appliances of small capacity such as the dredgers usually employ. The commission is considering the propriety of building a dredge of capacity sufficient to remove the material bodily and which can be easily moved from place to place, but are hampered by the great cost of such an appliance. The obstructions during the low water season were greatest above Cairo. The balance on hand Monday, May 31, 1892, was $986,375, distributed as follows: Levees, $78,118; channel works, $314,867; harbors and bank protection, $281,116; Red and Archafalaya rivers, $89,871; surveys, etc., $57,084, and plant and miscellaneous, $165,317.

FIXING FOR THE FIGHT.

Republican Committee Getting the Wires in Shape.

New York, July 19.—The meeting of the republican national executive committee, called for 1 o'clock at the Fifth Avenue hotel, was not called to order until after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There were then present Chairman Carter, Jas. S. Clarkson, J. H. Manley, Cornelius N. Bliss, H. C. Paine, J. P. Tanner, R. C. Kerens, Mr. Bettle for Mr. Hobart, of New Jersey; Mr. Sparks for Wm. O. Bradley, of Kentucky, and Wm. Brookfield for Mr. Sutherland, of New York.

Up to 3 p. m. nothing had been given out as to the proceedings. W. J. Sewell, of New Jersey, proxy for C. A. Hobart, was with the committee presenting a communication from President Harrison, with whom he spent yesterday at Cape May.

A. B. Humphrey, secretary; James A. Blanchard, executive member from New York, and ex-Congressman E. P. Allen, executive member from Michigan of the national league of republican clubs, were invited to give their views to the committee.

James F. Burke, president of the college republican league of clubs, also addressed the committee.

The following committee on headquarters was appointed: Messrs. Bliss, Manley, Clarkson and Fessenden.

No action was taken in regard to the appointment of an advisory committee, who will be leading republicans not members of the national committee. The meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

THEY WENT THROUGH

The Pluto and Paragon Pipe Line Ordinances,

At the Session of the Board of Councilmen Last Night—Much Routine Business Disposed Of.

All members were present at the meeting of the board of councilmen last evening, except Mr. Rutherford. There was also a large lobby on hand, many of them evidently drawn by curiosity occasioned by the late sensation in that board. The schedule of business was long, but was passed without much comment.

Nothing but very small matters were introduced under the call for new business and these were all sent upon their proper routine.

From the committees, ordinances were adopted accepting the plat of Harrison's first addition and John C. Clark's addition.

Several resolutions for new sidewalks were adopted, and ordinances were passed to establish the grades of Fourteenth street and Page street.

Resolutions were adopted to improve George street, Oak street, Division street, Sixteenth street and Scottwood avenue.

Mr. Gill moved that the vote be reconsidered by which the ordinance compelling the consumption of soft coal smoke was referred to the committee.

Mr. Neuendorf moved that the ordinance be laid on the table, but this motion was lost and the ordinance was passed, Messrs. Hake and Miller being the only ones to vote against it.

On leave, Mr. Gill moved that the harbormaster be instructed to build new gates at the draw of the Cherry street bridge. This was adopted.

Business from the board of aldermen was passed.

The greatest interest of the session was centered upon the ordinance authorizing the Pluto oil company to lay a pipe line in certain streets and alleys in this city. This is the particular ordinance for the passage of which it is alleged seven members of the council board demanded money. It was the promoters of this ordinance that made the charges of corruption against the councilmen. The members of the Pluto oil company were on hand, as were also all of the councilmen, but as the ordinance was one of the last matters on the schedule it was late before it was reached.

When the ordinance was read, Mr. Manchester made a somewhat lengthy explanation of his actions on this ordinance, and said that he had given it a personal examination to see if any paved streets would be torn up by it. On the roll call, however, he asked to be excused from voting.

The ordinance was then passed by a vote of 14 to 2, Messrs. Taylor and Gill voting against it.

On motion of Mr. Walker the ordinance granting to the Paragon refining company the right to lay an oil pipe line was taken up.

Mr. Doner moved to lay it over for two weeks, but the motion was lost by the following vote: Ayes—Daly, Doner, Felker, Gill, Neuendorf, Tanner—6.

The ordinance was then passed, Messrs. Gill and Felker voting no.

The ordinance directing the city engineer to appoint two inspectors of excavations was lost by a tie vote.

ONLY TOOK A WALK.

Report that Sheriff Herzog Had Escaped From Jail Causes Alarm.

Ashland, O., July 19.—News sent from Mansfield that Herzog had broken jail has caused a great many inquiries. Yesterday morning it was thought for a few moments that he had escaped, and a telegram was sent to Mansfield before the party could be stopped who sent the message. The party who was guarding the sheriff and giving him his medicine stepped out of the room for a few moments, and when he returned he found Herzog gone and raised an alarm.

A crowd gathered, but in a few moments Herzog came into the room. He was delirious and was roaming around in the jail. He was placed in a cell and to-day is much better.

He is now perfectly at himself for the first time since he left, and is endeavoring to get his matters straightened up. He went over his books to-day and made a statement. He says he can show he is only $5,000 short, and if he has a fair chance can fix all.

A VIEW OF ST. JOHNS

As Seen When the Flames Were at Work.

Smoke and Heat Driven Far Out to Sea.

People Huddled Together Like Sheep and Diphtheria Breaking Out Among the Sufferers

New York, July 19.—The first vessel which has arived at this port from St. Johns, N. F., since the fire which swept two-thirds of the town out of existence, is now lying at Woodruff's stores, Brooklyn. She is the steamship Miranda, commanded by Captain H. E. Leseman, who got into St. Johns during the fire and was evidently impressed by the sight.

"Talk about a big fire," said the captain. "I am spinning you no sea yarn when I tell you that at 120 miles' distance from St. Johns the windows and doors of the pilot-house had to be closed tight on account of the dense smoke the strong northwest wind blowing off shore brought down on us.

"We felt the heat fully sixty miles away and from where we anchored the whole eastern part of the town looked like one hugh, glowing coal. The cargo of 180 tons of fish, which we ought to have taken on board, was burned, and we had to load at Halifax."

"What about the state of the St. Johnians?"

"Well, there are over 15,000 of them houseless and homeless, not one hundred of whom, I would dare to bet, have a change of clothing. In fact, clothing is what they are chiefly in need of, and especially underwear. The weather was favorable when we left, but it may change at any moment. The great danger St. Johns has to fear at present is diphtheria, an epidemic to which it has always been particularly subject. Should it attack the people as they are now, huddled together like sheep, insufficiently clothed, and badly sheltered, the mortality would be dreadful.

"Food and timber for rebuilding are, of course, requisite, and I wish to state that provisions of any kind, or cast off and second-hand clothing, if sent to Bowering & Archibald, N. 18 Broadway, will be carried, freightage free, by the Miranda, which sails Thursday next, to St. Johns."

On board the Miranda yesterday were two gentlemen who have lived in New York for many years, but who are natives of St. Johns, and were on a visit there at the time of the fire.

"Halifax had sent us $20,000, besides breadstuffs and canned provisions by the time we had left on the Miranda," said one of these gentlemen. "Our own town council and the Premier, Sir William Whiteworth, seemed totally paralyzed by the emergency. Some sheds, however, not much better than cow pens, were put up by the government against the high fence around the colonial building under which the mothers and their children, many of whom are sick through the fright and exposure, huddled together like so many cattle. Many people, thanks to the warm weather, found fresher and more commodious sleeping places in vacant lots.

"The Blake, flagship of the North American squadron, among other things, brought 1,000 tents, which were a perfect God-send, while the well-to-do classes quartered themselves on their friends in the eastern part of the town, which was entirely untouched by the fire. The provisions that are left have advanced 100 per cent, and the only bakery left in the town is working the full twenty-four hours to convert the flour into bread for the hungry mouths incessantly clamoring for food.

"In spite of the indescribable misery prevailing all over the town there is no disorder, except in so far that the little salvage remaining seems to be considered by all as a sort of flotsam and jetsam, or common property, and such a sight in the open streets as a man hewing with a pick-ax at a safe he had never seen before in his life was to be come upon more than once. By the by, talking of safes, not an English or Canadian safe stood the crucial test of the fire, but those of American manufacture invariably proved themselves worthy of their name.

"The most irreparable loss to St. Johns is the destruction of the Church of England cathedral in Gower street, one of the oldest and most magnificent structures on the continent. It was designed by Sir Gilbert Scott, the famous architect, and was built of granite in the Gothic style. In it was held the first Protestant Episcopal service ever celebrated in the new world. Its cost alone is estimated at $500,000, though that by no means represents the sum involved in its loss, as when the fire was almost at its height several of the congregation, among whom are to be numbered some of the wealthiest men of the city, thinking the fire might spare the sacred place, used it as a sort of safe deposit vault and stored all their valuables there."

FOREST FIRES ARE AGAIN

Sweeping in on the Ill-Fated City of St. Johns.

Raging Flames for Miles Around the Country—A Panic Among the People.

St. Johns, N. F., July 19.—Forest fires are again raging in and around the country.

At Bay Bulls a large fire is in progress, and another between here and Topsail is assuming serious proportions.

Beyond that the whole countryside along the railway line is in flames.

Manuels, Holyrood, Killigrews and Salmon Cove are threatened and five houses were burned yesterday at Whitbourne and 14 at Blaketown. The proximity of the fires is causing somewhat of a panic here.

Bannerman Park contains nearly 1,500 persons living in huts and widespread generation of disease is feared. Doctors visit the camp frequently to direct the sanitary operations. Great difficulties are experienced in preparing food for the crowds that are destitute. There is a great deficiency of house room and much suffering results from the consequent overcrowding.

MARRIED AN ACTRESS.

The Earl of Orkney Takes Connie Gilchrist for a Wife.

London, July 19.—Earl Orkney and the notorious concert singer, Connie Gilchrist, were married to-day in All Souls church, London. Only half a dozen people, intimates of the party, were present. There was one bridesmaid. Earl Oneslow acted as best man. The duke of Beaufort, whose relations with Connie were long notorious, gave the bride away. Connie was all smiles and vivacity. She wore a lawn traveling gown and a princess bonnet trimmed with real violets. The wedding was followed by a wedding breakfast in the bride's house in Manchester street. The couple start at once for a tour of the continent.

MISSOURI DEMOCRATS

An Interesting Gathering in Jefferson City.

Five Candidates for the Head of the Ticket—All of Them Hopeful of Success.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 19.—The democratic state convention for the nomination of governor, lieutenant governor, treasurer, auditor, secretary of state, attorney general, and railroad commissioner assembled here to-day.

Five prominent democrats are ready and willing to enter the lists against Major William Warner, the republican nominee for governor. They are Richard Dalton, of Ralls county; W. J. Stone, of Vernon county; James Gibson, of Jackson county; Dr. Pope Yeaman, of Boone county; S. H. Claycomb, of Jasper county.

About two hundred and fifty votes are claimed for Dalton, and about one hundred and sixty for Stone, although the Daltonites claim that their candidate will get there on the first ballot.

Claycomb's friends say, however, that a dead lock will result between Stone, Dalton and Gibson, and that either their candidate or Dr. Pope Yeaman will be the compromise candidate. The lieutenant governorship will go to St. Louis, and Mayor John B. O'Meara is backed by the solid delegation from that city. For the balance of the ticket it is a free-for-all.

Simmons Liver Regulator, bear in mind, is not an experiment. It is indorsed by thousands.

As many students enrolled in this department of our school as in all the "departments" of some so-called business colleges. The reason is self-evident: J. W. THE CITY DIRECTORY

The new city directory will be issued to-morrow for the year beginning July, 1892. The manager, T. W. Martin, allowed a Bee to look over the advance sheets, which are full and complete, embracing an alphabetical list of business firms and private citizens, street directory, directory of city and county officers, churches, public and private schools, literary and other associations, banks, incorporated institutions, and much more. The miscellany department is very full and complete. The perspective also gives the following introductory:

For the past sixteen years the Toledo City Directory has been issued annually by us, and during that time it has been our aim to produce a work creditable to the city and ourselves.

It has been our pride to give a complete list of Toledo's inhabitants, as well as to clearly show the city's manifold manufacturing and mercantile industries.

The business of the humblest citizen and the interests of the millionaire receive at our hands the same careful consideration. If by any error of judgment, or oversight on the part of an employe, any one has ever felt himself aggrieved at our hands, we have always stood ready, as we do now, to rectify as far as possible any such inaccuracies brought to our notice.

But it is a pleasure to state that our extended experience in the directory business enables us to reduce errors to a minimum, and to give Toledo a directory as nearly perfect in all its details as any similar publication in the country. It is particularly gratifying to us, as it must be to the citizens at large, to be able from year to year to record the steady and healthy growth of Toledo, both in population and in business.

In 1877 the directory was a small volume of 544 pages containing 16,750 names. To-day it has 1,213 pages and 45,156 names. The increase over 1891 is 96 pages and 3,250 names.

This year we present our patrons with a new and corrected map of the city, which with the aid of the revised street guide, will enable any one easily and quickly to locate any desired street or number.

We extend our thanks to patrons for business favors, and to all classes of citizens for their willingness in furnishing our canvassers the data necessary to make the directory complete in its many departments. R. L. Polk & Co.

The B. F. Wade Co. did the printing this year. According to this edition Toledo can boast of 15 building and loan companies, 25 charitable and beneficial organizations, 86 church and religious societies, 73 clubs and societies, 5 hospitals, reformatories, asylums, 167 incorporated companies, 33 publications, 32 public schools, 31 church and private schools, besides a large number of secret societies, labor organizations, medical colleges, etc.

DEATH OF F. J. KING.

The Event Occurred Early This Morning.

A Long, Honorable and Eventful Life Closed—Brief Sketch of the Deceased.

Another of Toledo's pioneers and honored citizens has passed to the silent majority.

As was announced in the Bee of yesterday, the death of Francis J. King was hourly expected, that the attending physicians had given up al hope of his recovery, and at 1 o'clock this morning the sufferer breathed his last.

Mr. King has been unwell for several months, but only confined to the house for two weeks. No serious apprehension was felt by the physicians until Sunday night, when strong symptoms of pneumonia became apparent. The terrible affliction developed speedily and before noon yesterday the physicians had abandoned all hope. The patient rested comfortably at intervals, but steadily grew worse, until death relieved him of his pain this morning.

Mr. King was born and raised near Watertown, N. Y., and in 1845 was married to Miss Laurency Beecher, at Adrian, Mich. During this year he came to Toledo and associated himself with Mathew Brown, in the grain business, under the firm name of King and Brown. This partnership was dissolved, and the firm of King Bros. was organized, C. A. King being the junior member.

Along in 1870 Mr. King retired from this firm and active business. He was elected vice president of the Second National bank, where he made his headquarters after that.

He was a member of the board of aldermen when this organization was first perfected, being elected from the Third ward. He was one of the incorporators of the Wabash elevator, and with others operated this immense establishment for a number of years. The family consists of Mrs. King and two daughters, Mrs. H. S. Young and Miss Belle King.

The deceased is 73 years of age and his business life was spent in Toledo. As a business man he was conservative and rational in all of his dealings. He was devoted to the grain business and was content to proceed slowly but surely, and success was the reward of his plans. He accumulated a comfortable fortune, established a gigantic grain business and retired, the business being conducted on the same progressive basis to-day.

As a citizen Mr. King was one of the most loyal and public spirited. He was always to be found in the front ranks to strike a blow in the interest and welfare of Toledo, and was instrumental with his influence and cash in obtaining many of Toledo's most substantial enterprises. His home life was simple and pure. A devoted husband, kind and loving father, he was supremely happy when in the midst of his family. With all of his acquaintances, in business, public and private life, he was the same honest, upright man.

At the Produce Exchange.

It is with profound regret and sorrow that this exchange has received the announcement of the death in this city of Francis I. King, Esq., a long-time member of our exchange and a pioneer resident of this city. Seldom have we been called upon to note the end of the career of a member, and a citizen, who has so long and so well maintained a high character for moral worth, unswerving integrity, liberality to the needy, and an intelligent and industrious devotion to whatever public or private interests demanded his attention. To these traits that marked the character of Mr. King may well and truly be added, an unaffected good nature, genuine kindness of heart, and unfaltering fidelity in his friendships.

Mr. King was one of the early merchants in the valley of the Maumee. He immigrated from western New York to Adrian, Mich., in 1837, and successfully transacted there a general dry goods business. Removing to Toledo in 1846, he embarked in the grain and forwarding business with the late Morgan Collins, and later with the late Matthew Brown. At a still later date he was associated with Horace Walbridge in grain and elevating, and finally with his brother, the Hon. C. A. King, for 13 years in the same line. Retiring from active businessas in 1872, with fruitful results, financially, he has since devoted his attention to his banking interests as vice-president of the Second National bank.

Mr. King had a wide acquaintance, not only in this city, where he has resided nearly fifty years, but outside of it, and was as widely esteemed as he was known. He has been identified with our trade organization since its commencement in 1849, and has been a model of uprightness and fair dealing. It is the end of a long and useful life, and it is brightened by the light reflected by his noble traits and good deeds. Sorrow rests upon our members to-day that he has fallen by the wayside, and we offer to his family and friends this expression of our sincere sympathy in their great loss; therefore,

Resolved, That these minutes be placed on our records, and a copy be addressed to his family.

Resolved, That as a mark of respect for our deceased member and friend, we do now adjourn, and that the exchange attend his funeral in a body.

COAL RATES

The Subject of Discussion at Cleveland by Agents.

The Ohio Coal Traffic association met at the Weddell house yesterday for the purpose of arranging the freight rates on coal from the mines in central and southern Ohio to lake points. The necessity for the new arrangement of rates was caused by the collapse of the Lake Coal Shippers' association: The following gentlemen attended the meeting: Hudson Fitch, W. H. Vance and A. G. Blair, of Toledo; A. D. Smith, H. B. Dunham, W. A. Mills, W W Daniel and E. T. Affleck, of Columbus.—Cleveland Leader.

AGREED TO SELL.

Westminster Trustees Given the Requisite Authority.

The congregation of the Westminster Presbyterian church met last evening to discuss the proposition to purchase the one-third interest in the lot on the corner of Cherry and Superior streets. After some consideration the trustees were empowered with authority to negotiate the sale of the property. That All Might Have Seats at the Gospel Tent.

More chairs will be provided to-day so that all may have a seat to-night at the Tabernacle. Hence a Full Attendance of Members Is Requested.

A meeting of the congregation of the First Presbyterian church was held last evening, the principal business before the members being an agreement on an option on the church property good for 30 days, to be given to the Scottish rite masonic bodies of Toledo. The proposition was discussed, and desiring the fullest attendance of the membership, an adjournment was taken until after the prayer meeting on Thursday night. The church property could not fail to prove valuable for the purpose sought, and should it fall into the hands of the Masons would be put to excellent use, both for the fraternity and the city.

PRESBYTERIAN DAY.

The Bee's local columns last evening contained announcements of the Sunday school picnics to be given by the First, Third and Fifth Presbyterian churches, at different points, but all to occur on Wednesday. Not one of the three churches knew what day had been selected by the other. The First church will picnic at the Exposition grounds, and there will be all sorts of games and sports, and an elegant dinner served in the great pavilion.

The Third church will go to Presque Isle and eat their dinner in regular picnic fashion, as will the Fifth Presbyterian church, at Riverside park. Everybody anticipates an enjoyable time on Presbyterian day.

COUNTY COMMITTEE.

ED TOPLIFF,

The Lake Shore Engineer, Said to be in a Dangerous Condition.

The following special appears in to-day's Cleveland Plain Dealer relative to Sunday's wreck on the Lake Shore. It will be noted that Ed Topliff is regarded as being in a critical condition:

The blame for the bad wreck on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern road at Vermillion Sunday morning has not yet been established, but an official investigation will be made. Edward Topliff, of Toledo, engineer on the wrecked passenger, who was thought to be dying, is reported to be resting easily at the hospital in Vermillion. A telegram received to-day states that he is in about the same condition as on Sunday, with little hope of recovery. He had two brothers killed within the past few years, one at Bellevue and one in the disastrous wreck at Kipton. Sunday's accident was due to a freight car standing partially upon the main track. Night local freight No. 76 backed in on the siding to pull out a freight car, and in doing this shoved a car over the main line unnoticed. Barney Bernhart, the fireman, was taken to his home at Elmore, and will recover.

THE CASES SETTLED.

Consolidated Company Agrees With Litigants.

The sheriff put a deputy in charge of the store pending settlement.

MAJOR OVERMAN.

Looks as if Uncle Sam Was After Him With a Sharp Stick.

It seems as if Major Overman is to be at least bothered, if nothing further, for some time to come. This morning's Cleveland Leader has the following dispatch from Washington which speaks for itself:

Further action by the war department in the Overman case is barred by the acceptance of his resignation. It now seems likely, however, that the department of justice will proceed against him. Attorney General Miller was asked about the matter. "If Major Overman has been guilty of wrong-doing nothing that has been done stands in the way of his trial by this department," said he. "It is true that steps have been taken to this end. I wrote a letter to a gentleman in Cleveland a short time ago asking that a careful inquiry be made into the facts. Until an answer to this letter is received nothing more will be done. If it appears that there are good grounds for it, prosecution proceedings will, I think, be instituted at once. If he has committed the acts charged they are offenses against the government and the government has a right to arraign and try him."

The Builders' Exchange is in a flourishing condition.

AGAINST ADULTERATION.

Commissioner McNeal Determined to Get a Square Deal.

For some time State Dairy and Food Commissioner McNeal has been bringing up dealers in adulterated goods, compelling them to plainly mark all such, and in this he and his force will undoubtedly have the hearty support of the public. The following directions have been given in a circular, and after the warning, violators will have no one to blame but themselves if they get into court:

The following synopsis of Ohio laws, against adulteration and deceit in food, drink, and drugs, though not exhaustive or complete, will be found useful. It will be necessary, also, to examine the statutes.

The law forbids making or dealing in—

1. Generally, any article which has mixed with or abstracted from it, any ingredient which lowers its quality, or is injurious; any article made in imitation of, or sold under the name of another article, or falsely branded, or upon which art has been used to conceal inferiority, or in which there is fraud or deceit.

2. Drugs, which differ from standard laid down in proper medical works, or if below standard represented.

3. Meat, either of diseased animals, or tainted or unwholesome in any way. Diseased or tainted vegetables.

4. Canned goods (from foreign countries excepted), unless labeled with quality, name and address of packer or dealer, and marked "soaked," if so.

5. Maple syrup, unless labeled with quality, name and address of maker.

6. Selling of flour without branding with quality and name of miller (or dealer).

7. Milk, adulterated or from diseased cows, or from which any part of cream has been taken, unless can from which it is sold is conspicuously labeled "skimmed milk." Cows must be properly kept and fed.

8. Sale of cheese by Ohio manufacturers without label of "Ohio Full Cream," "Ohio State Cheese," "Ohio Standard," or Ohio Skimmed," as law requires.

9. Oleomargarine, if artificially colored, and unless dealer, keeper of hotel, boarding house, or eating place, post up sign of "Oleomargarine sold (or used) here," and unless dealer gives to purchaser a label with name of article and ingredients therein.

10. Vinegar, artificially colored, or containing drugs or acids, or foreign substances, or less than two per cent. of vinegar solids. Maker of cider vinegar (unless domestic) must brand it "cider vinegar."

11. Wine, adulterated with alcohol, or distilled spirits, except "compound wine," which may contain not more than eight per cent., or wine not branded as required by law.

12. Recognized mixtures, or compounds, unless each package is branded with name and per cent. of each ingredient.

Penalties vary from $10 to $1,000 fine, and ten days to five years' imprisonment.

Complaints will receive attention if addressed to either Dr. F. B. McNeal, commissioner, Columbus; Geo. A. Root, commissioner, Cincinnati; W. H. Stewart, commissioner, Salon; W. B. Hastings, South Point; Elmer A. Palmer, Napoleon.

A LADY ADVISES LADIES

I knew a charming lady who knows more beautiful and attractive women than any other lady in this city. In conversation recently, she said: "I often feel very sorry when I see so many beautiful women so delicate, and suffering so much, and I have often asked myself what the reason is? I think ladies do not exercise the proper care. They do not eat nourishing food, they are careless of their feet, their necks, their chests. In this way they open the door for diseases and those thousands of troubles which so often afflict womankind, but worse than all they allow their life and strength to run down to a low ebb. How many women we see constantly in this condition. They need help, they need something to depend upon, something that will assist them, some friend in need. I know this, largely, from my own experience for I was once in the same condition myself. I thought the matter over carefully, and decided what I would do. I knew I needed a gentle, constant stimulant, something that would assist my vital forces, keep my blood throbbing and act as a tonic. I decided to try Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and its effect has been simply wonderful. I do not know what pains, sickness or weakness are and I am satisfied ladies generally could be in the same happy condition by a proper use of the same means."

This lady's remarks are entitled to the greatest consideration, for they are an indication of what hundreds of ladies have found to be a necessity. It should be borne in mind, however, that it is only pure whiskey which should ever be used, and that Duffy's Pure Malt is the only one which receives the endorsement of scientists and the recommendations of physicians. Do not allow any druggist or grocer to induce you to take any other.

Some Instructive Figures.

It is in print and vouched for, that the clear profit on a ton of the product upon which the sliding scale of wages is based in the class of work in the Carnegie steel mills, is from $14 to $16, information said to be copied direct from the company's books, under date of December 28, 1889. Open hearth steel in a finer grade and commands higher price, but the Homestead workers manufactur it on the Bessamer billet basis. Bessamer p'g has decreased $2.35 since 1889. The men agreed to come down to the minimum basis, $24, which Mr. Frick would not concede. The men are paid on a basis of 2,240 pounds to the ton, while the average quotation of steel plates is $1.80 per 100 pounds, making $36 for a ton of $2,000, leaving the company 240 pounds ahead on every ton. These points the uninitiated can comprehend.

It begins to look to a man up a tree as if the profits of the business after paying the skilled workmen pretty good wages, were sufficient to warrant taking it off the list of infant industries and giving it a chance to stand alone, or tumble. It looks somewhat as though the workmen in question, if the luxury of their homes and their manner of living is correctly described (by organs that may prove too much), had voted for this subsidy for a small portion of the divy, and having fallen into dispute with their employers over shares and broken agreements, the rest of the people are getting to understand the scheme. From the showing on both sides of the question, it becomes clearly the duty of legislators to knock several stories off that 60 per cent tariff on iron and steel and give the rest of the country a chance. Through railroad iron, structural iron and iron and steel in its hundreds of forms of manufacture, the people have been fleeced about long enough. The Carnegies can get along without their over-fat profits with their tens and tens of millions already raked in, and the government can pay their workmen bounty direct from the people's treasury—if the peple say so. A thorough investigation of this matter may show why Pennsylvania is "reliably" for the high-tax party.

Republican Consistency.

The vehemence with which the high-tax organs are repeating that there is no politics in the Homestead trouble, is growing to be amusing, especially when the organs themselves go on, after making the statement, and fill their editorial columns with apologetic treatment of the case, political from first to last. There is more politics in the iron and steel industry of Pennsylvania than in any other business in the United States, or in any other country (where the business is not owned by the government). The republicans have sounded the din of it in our ears during every campaign for the last twenty years, while they have been hunting excuses for taxing the people to build up and support it. It has been held up as the shining examplar of the benefits of tariff taxation. Now, when the owners of the business have made such profits from it within a comparatively short space of time that they have to invent ways to spend their money, and yet in the full glow and glory of it, reduce the wages in the face of a 60 per cent. tariff law in its favor, and at the same time refuse to tell what are their profits on that labor—with things in this educational condition, people are warned not to "mix politics" with it. Directly under this solemn protest, in a high-tax organ, is cited a case where a mill owner of another class has increased the pay of a number of his workingmen, and the credit of it is given to the McKinley law! That is consistency for you—a law which has nothing to do with lowering a man's wages, but which is credited with a raise, if such a thing occurs in a protected industry once in forty years.

A Commendable Resolution

The Trades and Labor assembly at its Sunday meeting in Chicago, while it demanded, by resolution, the arrest of Mr. Pinkerton and of Manager Frick on the charge of murder and of inciting riot, also resolved emphatically against the organization of military companies within labor associations. Such companies would be as legal, or rather, no more illegal, than the unofficial Pinkertons. And when we have armed bodies of citizens lifting the weapons of death against other armed bodies of citizens, all unrecognized by state or national authority, then we have anarchy. The Pinkertons should be disbanded and forbidden existence, instead of being met by a force as illegal as themselves. The commendable resolution reads:

Whereas, The maintenance of such an armed force is practically impossible, and every effort in that direction is most unwise and injurious to the interests of labor so long as the workers have the right to vote and through the ballot box to control the state and national troops, regulate the police and abolish the Pinkertons; therefore

Resolved, That the Trade and Labor assembly condemn the movement to make military organizations of our labor organizations.

These words have the true ring. Try the efficiency of the ballot first. When that shall fail utterly is time for shotguns. It is the blindness and heedlessness of the voter that has brought about the present condition of things, in largest measure. There is nothing in the natural current of life in this country that could so pervert justice.

The Party of "Moral Ideas."

The republican party is the party of "great moral ideas," and the senate, as at present constituted, is supposed to be the consummate flower of republicanism—the republicanism that is so near the prohibitionist, in principle, that it cannot see any call for the third party at all. This is what the senate has done: so far as its power and influence goes, it has made the appropriation of the government for the world's fair contingent upon the closing of the gates on Sunday, which is in answer to the plea of saloon keepers. It had a resolution against the sale of intoxicants on the grounds embodied in the bill, but has dropped that out, at the instance of the same element.

Mrs. Rose Terry Cooke, the author of some very creditable literary work, is dead at her home in Pittsfield, Mass. She has been a long time more or less an invalid from pulmonary trouble. Her husband is a successful business man of Pittsfield. Mrs. Cooke was of retiring disposition, and so, had not large sympathy with women who, through force of circumstances or from choice, make themselves heard in the world in their demand for equality in citizenship. She leaves one daughter. Her name, though not so frequently seen in periodicals as at an earlier date, will be missed in literary circles.

The Toledo republican organ went to the Atlantic coast last night, hunting newspapers which employ non-union labor. It made a list of three ex-republican sheets (now classed as independent), and one democratic. The organ needn't have gone so far in its search. Almost at its own door is the most important republican paper of Northwestern Ohio, the exponent of republicanism, whose ideas and opinions all the lesser organs echo—the Cleveland Leader, the meanest and most vindictive opponent of organized labor in this whole section of country.

Mr. Carnegie and his men Frick are not so particular as to what their war shall cost the state of Pennsylvania, as they were about the one dollar a ton estimate on steel billets which should increase their immense profits and cut down the wages of their workmen.

The sympathizers with the manager of Homestead in his war on union labor talk as glibly of the skilled workmen Mr. Carnegie will send over from Europe, as if there were no law against it.

MUST ADVERTISE

For Bids When Contracts Are to be Let.

Such is the Decision of the Board of Education—Last Night's Doings at the High School Building.

The school board met in regular session last evening, all members present but Messrs. Kohn, Scott and Eversman, who came in during the reading of the minutes.

In the absence of Secretary Compton, Mr. Frost was requested to act insetad.

Superintendent of Buildings Conrad stated that a sewer was badly needed at Air Line Junction. He was instructed to have the sewer constructed.

Edward Callahan was present to press a claim against John Murphy, who has a sodding contract. Mr. Zirwas moved that the matter be referred to the building committee, and Messrs. Kohn and Trost, the two attorneys of the board. Mr. Kohn stated that he wanted it understood that if he did any legal work for the board he expected to be paid for it. The matter was referred to the building committee.

Thomas McCreary, the Toledo lightning rod dealer, submitted a proposition to rod the Sherman street school at 26 cents per foot.

Mr. Schlingman moved that the proposition be referred to the building committee with power to act.

Mr. Kohn stated that he hoped Mr. McCreary might have the work, being a Toledo business man and had done so much work for the board which had always given satisfaction, but he deemed the proper course was, as in all contracts of the kind, to advertise for bids and get prices from others, from which the board could choose. He stated that the board was establishing a dangerous precedent in giving contracts because the bidders were business men of Toledo and had the work of the board in the past.

Mr. Broer, Mr. Schlingman and Mr. Schuck were in favor of referring the matter to the building committee with power to act.

Mr. Trost said the objection he had to referring such matters to this committee, the board never heard of it again as the committee acted and never reported.

Mr. Kohn moved to amend that the clerk be instructed to advertise for bids for lightning rods.

Mr. Schlingman withdrew his motion and Mr. Broer moved an amendment to the amendment that the contract be awarded to Mr. McCreary.

Mr. Kohn then stated that the board could just as consistently tell Mr. O'Neil that he could have the all contracts for four-room school buildings that should be constructed in the future; that if each of the members were acting in his own capacity he would look around before purchasing. He stated that he wished to announce that in the future he would not vote to award a single contract unless proper notice had been given for bids. He stated that the public would some day call the members up sharp for their manner of procedure. The vote prevailed to advertise for bids.

GLOWING PROSPECTS

For the Finest Exposition Toledo Has Ever Seen.

Numerous Special Attractions, Improved Train Service and Mammoth Exhibits.

There is business in the very air that circulates through the rooms of the Toledo Exposition company, and the stacks of mail and throngs of people tell the tale that the rush is now on, and that things will be lively at these quarters for the next two months.

"Inquiry for premium books was never so large before," said Mr. Crane to a Bee man this morning, "and our special attractions are going to be better than ever.

"In the live stock department we will have at least three new breeds that have never been shown in Toledo, the Aberdeen-Angus, Galloways and Polled Durham, the last named being very large, red, hornless cattle, bred by Mr. J. H. Miller, of Mexico, Ind.

"Then there is the pony class, that has never been made much of a feature before. Mr. G. A. Watkins, of Detroit, has been prevailed upon to bring his famous ponies, 30 in all, and there will be performances every day, such as running races, chariot races, four abreast, trotting races, tandem, four-in-hand, etc., etc.

"In Main hall there will be a Japanese village, with natives at work, painting and doing basket work.

"Gentle Camno, the famous trapeze performer, of Detroit, will give a balloon ascension and parachute drop every day.

"Oh, there are many things I might mention that, in my opinion, will make the exposition the best one ever held, but dirs will give you an idea of what the company is doing, and of course, the arrangements are by no means completed.

"One thing you might mention, however, is the train service, that has never been very good and sometimes very bad. It will be first-class this year, the schedule time being every 15 minutes, and as much oftener as the crowd makes necessary. No pains will be spared to give the people a first-class show, one never before equalled in the history of Toledo expositions."

IT RAINED IN CAMP

But That Cuts no Figure With the Sojer Boys.

Another Day Spent With the Toledo Cadets.

Col. Howe Appears Unannounced and Sees

How the Crack Company Does Business.

The Routine Duties of the Day—Grand Rapids Doing the Proper Thing—Notes Taken by a Bee.

Ta-rat-boon-boon-toot-tooty-toot is the first sound that falls on the ear in the early morning at Camp Toledo. It is the band on its morning toot around the camp before 5 o'clock, while the mists that have gathered along the river shore are yet lingering around the tents. It is the signal to awaken, and a very effectual one, for the band is very energetic and crawls right under the tent flaps of the would-be slumberers and lets her whoop fortissimo, from the squeaking yellow clarinet to the big bass horn. Sleep is out of the question. The camp springs to life. One by one the sleepy Cadets scramble out of their bunks, slip on their pants and amble down to the river bank, where, like Venus at her bath, they go through their ablutions long before the eyes of the fille de town are peeping about the camp. From the opposite shore one might be reminded of that beautiful hymn: "On yonder shore their snowy robes I see," etc.

The toilet completed, the boys are ready for the squad drill at 5:15 a. m., which lasts about 15 minutes and consists of what is called setting up exercises, gymnastic movements with the arms, legs and body that bring all the muscles into play and give a man a four-cups-of-coffee capacity.

The sick call is sounded at 5:45 o'clock, and if anybody happens to be under the weather it is reported to the surgeon. At 6 o'clock breakfast is served. The long table in the dining tent is soon filled, and liver and bacon, ham and eggs disappear the gods only know where. Tin plates and cups are used and coffee comes round in a pot large enough to float a yacht.

At 6:30 comes the fatigue call. The cots are brought out on the company street, aired, made up neatly, and placed back in the tent, papers, sticks, matches and bits of everything are picked up or raked away, the tents are put in shape, and the company street fairly beams with cleanliness. The company then goes out for an hour and a half drill with arms.

At 9 o'clock occurs one of the ceremonious events of the day—guard mount, when the men who have been watching the camp at night are relieved and the guard for the next 24 hours takes hold of the business end of the broom. At 10 o'clock the bicycles are called out, and an hour or more is spent on the wheels. This is one of the most enjoyable events of the day's routine. The first sergeant hands his written report to the commandant of the camp at 11:50 o'clock, and immediately afterwards dinner is served.

The morning's work has worked the appetite machinery dry again, and another load of stuff vanishes, including pudding in tin cups. Things are not served a la Delmonico, but somehow or other that don't make any difference. If a man hasn't a spoon he takes it out of his neighbor's cup. Everything belongs to everybody else until somebody swallows it; that performance makes a clear title. The proverb "there's many a slip 'twixt cup and lip" is exemplified in all its degrees at these camp dinners.

At 12:45 comes the non-commissioned officers' school of instruction, followed by target practice on 200 and 300 yard ranges down near the river. Different squads shoot every day. Supper comes at 5 o'clock, followed by dress parade at 6:10. Generally the camp is filled with visitors to witness this last named event. The dress uniforms are gotten out, plumes adjusted, flags unfurled and "gracious, what a long tail our cat has" for an hour or so. The soldiers are on their dignity. Nothing will turn their heads outside of the village maiden, who, by the way, is there covering the hillside overlooking the parade ground, until it looks like a crazy patchwork quilt. She is there in all sizes, kinds, colors, ruffles, bangs, sashes, russet shoes, red stockin—, but let's on with the story.

The band gives a concert every evening. The visiting ladies and friends and the Cadets sit around the flickering torches and listen, or chat, or flirt as the case might be. Later in the evening the banjos and singing are brought into play and the fun grows hot and furious until 9:30 o'clock when tattoo is sounded. The company falls into line in the dark, the sergeant calls the roll, peering into the pages of his book in the indistinct light of a sleepy torch. Then to bed. At 10:30 the bugler sounds taps and all lights go out in camp. Soon the tired Cadets wander off into dreamland, and no sound disturbs the night air but the chirping of the crickets, the tuneful lay of the swamp frogs, and the muffled tread of the guard on the grass.

Camp Toledo is asleep.

Col. Howe, assistant adjutant general of the state, arrived in camp last evening during dress parade. No one knew he was there. Perhaps this was what the colonel desired. He watched the proceedings closely, and seemed pleased with what he saw. Capt. McMaken spied Col. Howe immediately after dress parade, and for his benefit put the boys through a course of sprouts that made their hair stand on end. The company was going through the evolutions of a skirmish drill, extended formation, when the bugler tooted an order which translated meant "skip along lively now to the front." The company skipped The hill was the first obstacle, but they mounted it and came up sharp against the fence at the top. They started to climb over and press forward, but the bugler stopped them with the order to fire. Then commenced a lively fusilade through the bars of the rambling old zig-zag fence. No one was killed, but the farmers' horses got a little excited.

After the drill Col. Howe stepped before the company and said: "I arrived here a little sooner than I expected, but hurried on knowing that I would enjoy myself with you. I am much pleased with what I have seen this evening. I have just left the First regiment encampment and came here to see the new tactics demonstrated, as I know the Toledo Cadets can do it. I wish to thank you for your hearty welcome and the courtesies you have always shown me."

Yesterday Mayor Buckland and the members of the town council of Grand Rapids visited camp and saw the company go through the bicycle drill. When it was finished the mayor said it was fine, but the parade ground wasn't good enough for a company like the Toledo Cadets.

"I'll fix it," said he. So the mayor and council went over to town, secured some dynamite and a big roller. They returned and blew up some stumps that obstructed the grounds and scraped and rolled the whole field.

"There," said the mayor when the job was finished, "every other town has done something for the Cadets and this is our share."

Hurrah for the mayor.

Roast of Beef,
Veal Pot Pie,
Sweet Corn, Mashed Potatoes,
Rice Pudding, rum sauce,
Coffee, etc.
Doings at Camp.

As the result of Col. Howe's visit, the boys had to polish up their guns this morning.

Guns are fired at sunrise and sunset.

Salute Lieut. Howells, officer of the day.

Sergeant Quine is the officer of the guard to-day.

The Clover Leaf runs an excursion to the camp Sunday next.

Sergeant Quinn's wife and baby came to camp yesterday afternoon.

The dress parade was viewed by a large crowd of visitors last evening.

Herman Lebius rode down on his wheel and is a guest at camp to-day.

Col. Howe spent the night in Toledo and returned to camp this morning.

The ladies and children are quartered at a farm house near the camp.

Jim Lasalle and Jim Bailey caught a big string of fish yesterday in the river.

Sergeant Parson's wife has arrived in camp and will remain the rest of the week.

On account of the wet condition of the grounds there was no company drill today.

Mrs. Lieut. Howells and family and Mrs. Sergeant Irving and child are at the farm house.

The new men who are attending their first camp are finding out that camp life is not all play.

Just think of it, ye city folks, sirloin steak, cream potatoes and coffee for breakfast this morning.

Wm. Cooper, the company barber, is on hand mowing away whiskers in the most approved fashion.

Mrs. Sergeant Irvine sent down a big basket of doughnuts late last night. They reached the right spot.

Some new movements were tried during the bicycle drill yesterday morning. The wheels are a big success.

An enterprising boatman has erected a boat house at the camp, and is doing a lively business renting boats.

When the boys went down to bathe this morning the slippery mud slid some of them into the creek over their boots.

Chas. Hammer, Lieut. Watters, Corporal Pixley and Corporal Raymer had a swimming match off the Nellie yesterday.

Adjutant General Pocock and Capt. Halstead, of the Eleventh Infantry, U. S. A., are expected in camp to-morrow.

Private Wilder is a stunner with his pants a la mode. Speaking of style, a la mud would be the proper caper today.

Sergeant Herman Middaugh was advised not to go into camp this year on account of poor health. He ran down and paid the boys a visit yesterday afternoon.

The rain stole into camp last night and the mud sprouted. However, this don't matter. The boys enjoy themselves in the mud just as well as under other conditions.

Lieut. Watters and Corporal Pixley started out with their guns early this morning to shoot woodcock. Lieut. Howells went along for a dog and carried salt to put on their tails.

Jack Schmidt took snap shots of the company during the wheel drill yesterday morning. The subjects are "prepare to mount," "attention," "salute," "single file," "company front," and "platoons."

John Webber, who went to camp on his yacht Nellie, started out fishing yesterday and caught a nice string, including some fine pickerel and bass. The party on the yacht returned to Toledo this morning. The boys were royally entertained on board during the stay.

After taps last night the lantern in the company's wagon fell over and set the box on fire. Inky put out the flames.

Mrs. Lieut. Watters found a little old-fashioned bonnet at the farm house, and came down to camp yesterday wearing it. The boys lined up and whistled "Where Did You Get that Hat?" as she marched in.

Last evening's Bowling Green Sentinel thus soliloquizes: "The crack company of sojers, the Toledo Cadets, are encamped at Grand Rapids for a ten days' stay. They are 45 in number; are camped on a beautiful spot just above the village; they look very fine in their blue uniforms, with their guns, bicycles and other ornaments, and the hearts of all the pretty maidens in eight miles of Grand Rapids, are in a continual flutter from now hence until the camp breaks up.

HON. FRANK H. HARD

To Deliver an Address in Toledo

Next Friday Evening at Memorial Hall on the Subject of "Protection and Wages"

Arrangements were perfected this afternoon for the citizens' meeting to be addressed by Hon. Frank H. Hurd on Friday evening. Memorial hall has been secured, and a grand rally is anticipated.

Mr. Hurd's subject will be "Protection and Wages."

The people need not be told of the manner in which the distinguished gentleman will handle the subject. Mr. Hurd has ever been in advance on the question of the tariff and matters connected therewith, and the speech of Friday evening cannot fail to prove interesting as well as instructive.

Pass the word along and let there be a good turn-out.

THE CIRCUS DIDN'T PAY

And an Accounting is Very Much Desired.

At Least Such Is the Nature of a Petition Filed in the Common Pleas Court—An Injunction Granted.

In common pleas court to-day Horatio D. Walter applied for an injunction restraining Edward Lane from removing from Toledo, or disposing of certain circus property in which he alleges to own a half interest.

Horatio, in his petition says that he was raised on a farm, and by hard work and rigid economy saved $700 in cash.

That one evil day along came Edward Lane, representing himself to be an experienced showman, and induced Horatio to invest $700 in the business, holding forth the alluring inducement that they would make over $150 a month and expenses.

It seems the venture was not a bowling success, and now the plaintiff asks that the defendant, Edward Lane, be enjoined from disposing of the property, and that a receiver may be appointed to wind up the affairs of the partnership. Judge Harmon granted a temporary injunction. This is the wild west show which had its tents pitched on Sumner street.

MARIE IS BACK.

New York, July 19.—Mrs. Marie Nevins Blaine, the divorced wife of James G. Blaine, jr., arrived in this city on the steamship La Champagne after several month's stay abroad. Mrs. Blaine is still very feeble and her health has not improved as much as was hoped. She was met by her father, Col. Nevins, who took her to the New York Hotel.

IN FINANCIAL TROUBLE.

Troy, N. Y., July 19.—The firm of Crampton & Belden, sash and blind manufacturers, of this city, is embarrassed. It executed a mortgage of $32,000 to the Mutual National bank today, to secure indebtedness to that institution, and a meeting of creditors has been called.

STILL HOLDS THE FORT

Superintendent Charley Murphy Will Not be Ousted.

Mr. Lewis Pays the Office an Unsuccessful Visit.

A Demand for the Keys is Met With a Refusal—Five Charges Preferred, Which Lewis Refuses to Publish.

Labor Commissioner Lewis dropped into Toledo yesterday afternoon and registered at the Hamilton.

Later, accompanied by his appointee, Gus Smith, he went to the Free Employment office and had a seance with Mr. Murphy, who, by the way, told him very plainly that he (Murphy) is going to hold the fort.

"Well, how are things going?" Mr. Lewis asked.

"All right. I am still here"—laughing.

"Yes, so I see. I wish to tell you, however, that your term of office expired July 1."

"I guess not—not according to your last report, wherein you give my name as superintendent."

"Now, I want to talk with you," Mr. Lewis began. "I will give you until August the first, when you will have an opportunity of stepping down and out entirely exonerated."

"Exonerated? What are the charges against me?"

"They are two fold. The first is failure to make your weekly report on time."

"I can prove, Mr. Lewis, that my reports were mailed every Thursday evening in time for the Columbus mail, according to law."

"Then it must have been the fault of the mails."

"You can place the blame on Uncle Sam if you will, but I know it wasn't mine. That, however, is not the real charge, is it?"

"No; you are also charged with discriminating in favor of a certain class in giving employment."

"You know, Mr. Lewis, as well as I do, that that charge is a lie. You know the source from which it springs. I can call on 200 housekeepers in this city to prove its falsity. Now, I have a proposition to make to you. If you can show me a single instance where I or my assistant ever discriminated in favor of anyone on account of creed, class or nationality, I will at once step down and out."

"The charges have been proven," the commissioner replied.

The superintendent's eyes glittered.

"See here, Mr. Lewis, when you make such a statement you say what is untrue, and you know it. They have not been proven. I was born and raised in Toledo, and this is the first time my character has ever been assailed—I would say maligned. Now, I am going to see those charges proven in the courts."

"That won't be necessary, as I am the court."

"Oh, you are, are you? Well, we will see about that."

Mr. Lewis then asked for the key. Mr. Murphy said he wanted the key himself.

"Where's your assistant, Miss Skehan?" the commissioner asked.

"She is sick."

"Will you tell her that she is now under the superintendency of Mr. Smith?"

Charley laughed and rose to attend a patron.

Bright and early Superintendent Murphy was at his office this morning, and a few minutes later Messrs. Lewis and Smith put in an appearance.

When a Bee entered Mr. Smith occupied the rocker.

"What is the situation this morning?" the Bee asked Mr. Lewis.

"There is no change. Mr. Smith is here."

"Yes, I see he is here, but is he in charge?"

"Oh, that will be settled all right."

"What are the charges against Mr. Murphy?"

"There are five, and some of them are of a sensational nature."

"Will you let me have them?"

Mr. Murphy—"Yes, give them to the papers. I suppose they are public property now."

Mr. Lewis—"If you had come to Columbus when I summoned you to refute the charges you would have known what they were. It's too late now."

"What do you propose doing, Mr. Lewis?" the Bee asked.

"I have left everything in the hands of Mr. Smith. He will tell you."

"Mr. Smith, how do you propose getting hold of the office?"

Mr. Smith, smilingly—"That'll be all right."

"Who are you going to appoint as your assistant, Mr. Smith?"

"I don't think I need an assistant just yet. Does it look as if I did?"

"No. You and Mr. Lewis consulted with City Solicitor Read. What was the result?"

Mr. Lewis—"Oh, we met Mr. Read by appointment and talked matters over in a general way."

They sat around for an hour or two, and seeing that Mr. Murphy proposed holding the fort, withdrew, Mr. Lewis remarking as he went out that he had left the matter in the hands of Mr. Smith.

Later Mr. Lewis left for Columbus, and Mr. Smith is taking matters easy for a time.

WITH A SHOTGUN

A Grocer Ousts an United States Officer,

And Uncle Sam Goes After That Grocer With a Warrant and a Pair of Handcuffs.

United States Deputy Marshal Dan Harmon is down in Fulton county after a grocer who pulled a shotgun last week on one of Uncle Sam's officers.

One day last week Collector Waldorf sent Deputy Bassett down to Montana, a village in Fulton county, to investigate a case of alleged infraction of the reveune laws.

It appears that a grocer, of Montana, named John Red was found to be illegally taking tobacco from original packages and selling it from the shelf.

Mr. Bassett remonstrated with Red and Red got hot. Warm words ensued, when Red, reaching for a shotgun, gave Bassett just two seconds to leave the store. Bassett was dazed that a servant of Uncle Sam should thus be insulted, looked down the gleaming barrels of the gun one moment, but managed to get outside the store within the limit.

Mr. Bassett returned to Toledo and reported the reception given him by Mr. Red, and Collector Waldorf immediately had a warrant sworn out for Red's arrest and Dan Harmon yesterday started for Fulton after him and he is expected here today.

Later—Deputy Harmon arrived in the city this noon with Red. He found him some ten miles from Montana, and attempted to escape but was headed off and captured while hiding under a table. He is about 51 years of age, broad shouldered and seemingly inoffensive and good natured. He was placed in jail and will have a hearing before United States Commissioner Beckham to-morrow. The maximum penalty for the third offense is $500 and two years in jail.

THE VENTILATING HAT.

I had got to the very bottom of the ladder. Never mind how I got there, or why I got there; that's my business, and it doesn't concern you in the least. But I was earning my living all the same, and earning it honestly.

"You might try for a job at Wilkins'—Wilkins, the hatter,' said a friend of mine. So I went to Wilkins' shop in Shoreditch. There I saw two heads—real human heads. A planking just below the heads was filled with holes. One face heads were filled with holes. One face was full of woe, the other was full of smiles. I stepped in and asked Mr. Wilkins for a job as hat wearer.

"Been here before, my man?" said Mr. Wilkins to me, not unkindly.

"Not I," I replied.

"Then you'd better put him through the mill, Boldger," said Mr. Wilkins to the foreman.

'Step this way, young man," said the foreman to me.

I followed him into a lavatory.

"There you are," he said. "You're in luck, young man," he went on; "half-a crown for wearing a new hat for three hours is good pay. You'll be on at 3 and you'll be off at 6. This gentleman is waiting his turn," he added, "he is one of our regulars."

The 'gentleman" who was waiting his turn was a tatterdemalion wretch, but his neck and face had been carefully washed, and his hair well-combed and brushed.

Well, we went in to the basement and took our seats.

"Why do you strap us in?" I said to the man.

"You'll know why, governor, by the time you've earned that half-a-crown," said the man with a malignant grin. "Now look here," he continued, "if you wnt to sneeze or cough or anything, get it done now. And don't you go larfing or larking with the boys at the window; if you do it will be deducted for."

Then he began to wind me up and I made my first appearance in Mr. Wilkins' shop front to a round of tumultuous applause from a crowd of idlers in the street, who stared into the shop windows. Then somebody carefully fitted a hat on to my head and gave it a knowing cock. Then the mahoganny arrangement was drawn up close to my neck and there I sat, perfectly comfortable, staring at the crowd of idlers in the street.

And then a draught of cool air began to flow through the holes that surrounded my neck. Mr. Wilkins really took a wonderful amount of trouble to insure our comfort.

At first the novelty of my situation entirely occupied my mind. I felt inclined to laugh as I thought of myself as a bodiless head, wearing a ventilated hat. The boys in the street, too, mopped and mowed and made grimaces at me. Then I took a look at my fellow victim out of the corner of my eye. He was evidently already suffering from the effects of his unventilated hat. His teeth were tightly set; he looked anything but happy; great drops of perspiration already stood upon his brow. I didn't trouble myself very much about him.

The time passed pleasantly enough, and I heard the clock of Shoreditch church at length strike 4. As it did so I was startled to hear the wearer of the unventilated hat give a hollow groan. I looked at him once more out of the corner of my eye. He had become ghastly pale; he looked as if he were melting gradually. In fact, the poor fellow seemed very ill indeed. Strange that a badly-ventilated hat should produce such marked effects. Well, it wasn't my business.

After awhile the clock of Shoreditch church struck half-past four. I heard footsteps in the room below, and at the same time I was deprived of my ventilating hat. A brand new hat was placed upon my head, and the show cards which stood behind our respective heads were exchanged. The draughts of cool air which came through the innumerable little holes in the mahogany flooring around my neck suddenly ceased. A current of heated air supplied its place. I looked out of the corner of my eye at the other head; its face wore an ecstatic smile. Then an extraordinary thing took place. The easy chair in which I was sitting suddenly began to grow warm; it then became actually hot, unpleasantly hot.

I saw through the whole fiendish trick at once. I was to be tortured—tortured for a period of an hour and a half, for the amusement of an idle crowd—in order that the public might be gulled into the purchase of the so-called ventilating hats of the fiend Wilkins.

I shed tears of rage, indignation and suffering; I endured the most dreadful tortures for a whole hour and a half. When I left Wilkins' establishment with half-a-crown in my pocket, I was more dead than alive.

It is the dream of my life that I and Mr. Wilkins, the inventor of the ventilating hat, may meet in some lonely place. I am not a revengeful man, but I feel that I owe Wilkins something that I should like to repay.—Black and White.

MOTHER'S RESPONSIBILITY

How Much Baby's Life Depends Upon Her Care.

July a Trying Month for the Parents of Little Children.

Dr. J. H. Hanaford Tells How Many and Many a Wee Life Can be Saved.

"Few mothers realize the responsibility that comes with the little life that has been entrusted to them.

"It is the mother who is directly responsible for the health of her child, and upon her knowledge and care often depends the life of the little one."

The speaker was a prominent physician who knows the conditions upon which a baby's life depends as well as, if not better than, any other man in Toledo.

The following letter from Mrs. Taylor, of Medora, Ill., that was recently published in the Chicago Herald, illustrates the value of a mother's knowledge. Mrs. Taylor writes: "When my baby was two months old, he was not as large as when he was born. He had been troubled with a weakness of the bowels and nothing that we could do for him helped him one bit. We were feeding him cow's milk at the time and it did not satisfy him, for he seemed starved and hungry all the while.

Baby Taylor.

"When two months old, we put him on lactated food, and it acted like a charm, so that now you cannot find a healthier, happier baby. He sleeps all night and plays all day, and his picture shows what lactated food did for him. I hope all mothers who are obliged to feed their little ones will have the blessing of knowing of this wonderful food that saved my baby's life."

Dr. J. H. Hanaford, the well-known medical authority, says: "The fact that about fifteen infants to every hundred born, die during the first year, is significant and lamentable. I am decidedly of the opinion that the general introduction of lactated food would materially diminish this death rate."

Lactated food is not a medicine, but simply a pure combination of sugar of milk and the nutritious elements of wheat and barley that can be obtained at any drug store. 25 cents will buy enough to make ten pints of good, wholesome food that will keep the little one strong and well and lay the foundation for a sound body and vigorous health in the years to come.

A MODERN BORGIA

Fourteen - Year - Old Girl With a Mania for Murder.

She Fed Rough on Rats to a Number of Her Friends With Almost Fatal Effect.

Tonawanda, N. Y., July 19.—A young Borgia has been discovered here in the person of Ella Holderidge, aged 14 years, daughter of Franklin Holderidge. Last Wednesday Mrs. Luman Eggleston went to Buffalo, leaving her daughters Susie and Jennie, aged 10 and 4 years respectively, in the care of Mrs. Garlock.

During the afternoon Ella Holderidge came over to the Garlock house with something mixed up in the cover of a tin box.

Some of this she fed to the Eggleston children and to the 6-year old son of Mrs. Garlock, telling them it was cocoa. Soon after the children were taken violently ill. Dr. Edmonds was called and relieved their suffering, but it was some hours before they were out of immediate danger.

An investigation showed that the children had been given "rough on rats." The Holderidge girl would give no reason for her conduct. She was arrested and committed to the Limestone protectory at West Seneca.

There is now much speculation concerning the death of 13-year old Zoena Stuermer, which occurred on July 8. The child was apparently in perfect health until about 5 o'clock of the fatal day, when she was taken suddenly and violently ill and died at 10 o'clock. The Stuermers are near neighbors of the Holderings and in the light of what has transpired it is thought she was also given a dose of poison. Her body will be exhumed and carefully examined for traces of poison.

A MODEL CHICAGO LOCATION.

A syndicate of successful and wealthy Chicagoans have just arranged to put Sheldon Heights, a model residence location, on the market. Their reasons for delaying giving investors a chance to share in the enormous profits (which will result from the settling up and occupation of Sheldon Heights) is that their improvements have just been completed. It has taken a year's time and a large amount of money to macadamize all the streets; lay stone sidewalks around every block; put pure water in every street; plant trees and in fact make the model residence location of Chicago. This is what has been accomplished with Sheldon Heights. Lots are now being sold upon prices and terms that make Sheldon Heights property the best possible purchase in Chicago real estate. Send for the fuller description of the story in a booklet called "The Way to Win" to Jas. E. & Robt. L. McElroy, Chamber of Commerce, Chicago.

KANSAS DEMOCRATS

They Will Put a Straight Ticket in the Field.

A Respectable Minority Protest Against the Action Taken by the Fuseonists.

Herington, Kans., July 19.—Several hundred representative democrats from all over the state have arrived here for the purpose of holding a convention at which a full democratic ticket is to be placed in the field.

The convention is to be held in response to a call issued by the democracy of the fifth district, and it says that the action of a part of the democracy of the state in fusing with the people's party has deprived the rest of the democrats of the privilege of a state democratic ticket, and has bartered away the political birthright of the old party to the Populists in opposition to the will of a respectable minority.

There are thousands of democrats throughout the state who do not propose to allow the dictum of pottage seekers to force them into the ranks of the populists.

must be thought of. If you're going to have your flannels washed in the old-fashioned, rubbing, twisting, wrenching way, with soap and a washboard, then you'll look something like this by the time the leaves fall. Beginning of Season is the time to take action. Make up your mind now that your toggery shall be washed only with Pearline (you're told just how on every package) and you won't have any trouble. REJECT THE BILL.

That's What the Chicago Herald Wants Done by the Director.

The Chicago Herald has the following double-leaded editorial on the action of the United States senate with relation to the bill for the appropriation of $5,000,000 for the world's fair. It is couched in very plain English:

The directors of the world's fair should peremptorily announce that they will not accept the appropriation bill that was passed yesterday in the United States senate.

It is a dishonest, a sneaking and a contemptible measure.

Led by the saintly Matt Quay, of Pennsylvania, a majority of the senators added to the bill a proviso that the fair should be closed on Sundays. Captained by Peffer, the product of Kansas crankism, a majority added a proviso that no liquor should be sold on the grounds.

These amendments were imposed by demagogues, hypocrites and skinflints for the purpose of shirking a manifest duty. They knew that an appropriation coupled with such unusual and unnecessary conditions would not be accepted. They knew they were sinking the ship when they put the cargo aboard. They should have their impudent and cowardly work thrown back in their faces with as much vigor as Chicago can command.

If the appropriation had been for a thieving tariff lord, for a railroad corporation, for a swindling mail contractor or for any other sort of a jobber, big or little, this amiable body of fussy and stupid old men, most of them in the employ or high in the favor of some monopoly, would have fallen over each other in their haste to pass it without condition.

Being an appropriation for a world's fair to be held ostensibly by the United States and under the authority of the nation, it suits the small souls of these bats and owls to hedge it about with provisos that would depopulate a camp meeting and bankrupt every orthodox church in America.

The United States senate is not responsible for the religious beliefs or the personal habits of the people. It has no more right to prescribe Sunday laws and total abstinence for the government of the nation's guests at the fair than it has to regulate the cut or the color of their clothing.

It is for the directors of the fair and not for the United States senate to prescribe police regulations for the grounds. No other arrangement is permissible. No other has ever been thought of by anybody who has not been anxious to ride a hobby at the expense of the exposition. No other must be accepted by the local authorities.

Thus far governmental control of this stupendous undertaking has been merely vexatious and obstructive. The attitude of the American people toward the enterprise is all that could be expected. The attitude of their official representatives at Washington is mean and contemptible to a degree that ordinary language fails properly to characterize. Government has spent nickels where a city has spent thousands of dollars. Government has had its paw on everything at a cost to itself all told of $300,000. Chicago has expended $15,000,000 and will expend $15,000,000 more before it will permit an affront like this to be put upon itself, the nation and the nation's guests.

Let the directors denounce and renounce this shameful measure, the product of a shameless body, as it deserves. Let them do it promptly and emphatically. If the nation will not appropriately sustain an undertaking begun by its authority, carried on in its name and designed for its everlasting glory, let the world know at once that Chicago, scorning the pharisees and rebuking the cranks and the misers, is able and willing to carry the enterprise to success alone.

WITH NON-UNION MEN.

Philadelphia, July 19.—Hughes & Patterson's puddling mill at Otis and Beach streets, started up this morning with a dozen non-union men under police protection. The Fair Hill rolling mill where the men also struck a few days ago, is still idle.

DROWNED IN THE LAKE.

Kingsville, Ont., July 19.—Rudolph Blaser, second cook; George Bokard, fireman; Maggie Meecham, vegetable cook, and Anna Dillon, kitchen girl, of the Mettawas hotel here, went out on the lake on Friday evening in a small rowboat. A tremendous storm came up and the boat was swamped, all but Blaser being drowned. He was picked up by the barge Cumberland.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Currents for Produce and Other Articles.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 209,396 bu., and at five other western points 431,699 bu., aggregate, 641,095 bu. On the corresponding Tuesday in 1891 the receipts were 979,600 bu., with only 100,797 bu. of northwestern wheat.

The export cleanances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were: Wheat, 474,291 bu., and flour to an aggregate of 625,000 bu. Exports of corn 94,466 bu. and oats 63,295 bu. English markets are firmer and in some positions higher for wheat and corn.

The official report of Iowa crops gives condition of winter wheat 95 1-2, spring 89. Corn, 6,446,694 acres, condition 72 1-2. Oats, average 88 per cent., condition, 93.

The Markets To-day.

We are without our usual continued New York quotations to-day. We suppose a new deal is in progress in New York.

The wheat market has been a narrow one, without developing much interest on side. It seemed to require but little buying to give it firmness, and but little selling demonstration to make it weak. Near the close the reports of foreign markets gave the market a firmer tone, as all the prices abroad seem to be higher.

Corn that yesterday was stated by Chicago dealers to be good for 10c advance has disappointed its friends to-day, and closed lower at Chicago. Increased receipts and less demand for shipments are the factors.

London, Liverpool, Paris and Berlin were all reported as closing higher.

In New York our latest reports make very little change in wheat and a shade better price for August corn.

In Chicago, August and September wheat closed 1-8c up. August corn 5-8c. September, 1-2c lower. July oats unchanged.

In Toledo we have had only moderate trading in wheat futures. Prices are improved, and especially for cash and July, which have advanced 3-4c, August 3-8c and September 3-4c, and the market closed at the best prices of the day. On the call July sold at 80 3-4c and August at 80c. After the call July sold at 80 1-2c and closed at 81 1-2c, August sold at 80c and closed at 80 1-2c, September sold at 80 7-8c and closed at 81 1-4c sellers.

Cash wheat was in better demand, but the sales do not equal offr receipts. No. 2 soft sold at 80 3-4c up to 81 1-2c and closed at that, No. 3 soft sold at 75c cash and July new and old, No. 4 soft at 70c, smutty at 73c to 70c.

Corn—No. 2 at 50 1-2c, No. 3 at 50c to 49 1-2c, No. 4 at 45c, No. 3 yellow at 50 1-2c. On the call July sold at 50c.

Rye—On the call August sold at 65c.

Close in New York.

New York, July 19.—Money on call 1 1-2@2 per cent. Exchange quiet. Governments dull and heavy; currency 6s 106; 4s cop 115 1-2 bid; extended 2s registered 100 bid.

Corn steady; No. 2 mixed, 67c; July, 55 3-4c.

At New York—Cattle—Receipts 4,689 head, including 3 cars for sale. The market was active and 15@20c per cwt higher. Sales of native steers at $3 75@5 50 per cwt, Texans at $3 85@4 00, bulls and cows at $2 40@3 85. Dressed beef firm at 7 1-2@8 1-2c per lb. Shipments to-morrow 1,344 beeves and 1,260 quarters of beef. Calves—Receipts 3,502 head. The market was slow but steady. Sales of veals at $5 00@6 00 per cwt, buttermilk calves at $2 25@3 00, grassers at $2 00@2 50. Sheep and lambs—Receipts ---,948 head. The market for sheep was slow and week; lambs 1c per lb lower. Sheep sold at $4 00@5 75 per cwt, lambs at $4 50@7 00. Dressed mutton was weak at 9 1-2@11c per lb, and dressed lambs lower at 10 1-2@12c. Hogs—Receipts 7,350 head, consigned direct. The market was nominally lower. Sales at $5 40@5 90 per cwt.

At Buffalo—Cattle—Receipts 13 loads through, 230 loads for sale. The market was stronger for good fat cattle and export grades; common dull and lower. —::—::—

Wa gton, July 19.—The second day of th national meet of the League of Amer n Wheelmen opened with a grand parade over the smooth pavement of the city, and in which nearly every visiting and local wheelman participated.

The line stretched out for over a mile, and as each detachment wheeled even, and with military precision, the spectacle was an exhilerating one, and quickened the enthusiasm of the spectators into hearty cheers as company after company passed by.

A part of the route lay through the white hose grounds, and here the wheelmen wer reviewed from the top of the steps by President Harrison.

Each rider salut as he passed the chief magistrate, and the president responded by frequ ntly doffing his hat. From his manner it was evident that he was delighted with the spectacle.

The round- was at the base of the Washington monument where several negroes were ken of the immense throng of riders. ere formally inaugurated on the meet f the Columbian Athletic club at Anacostia island. There are four championship events to be contested, the quarter, h one and two mile, and in the finals struggles all the state or division champions will come together.

It is probable that there will be another meeting of the league to consider the proposition which has been made by the National Cyclists' union to the league that the latter shall throw open its championships o all comers.

As it is now foreign cyclists are barred from championship events in this country on account of the tightness with which the league restrains its rules for the benefit of American amateurs. The English wheelmen want the league to put its championships on the same basis as those of the union, that neither country nor color bars. This, they say, is nothing more than reciprocity, as an American can go over to England and win everything in sight if he proves to be the best man.

The proposition is very favorably entertained by most of the leading cyclists of this country, especially as the rules of the league have already been side-tracked so as to permit international contests during the world's fair.

All of the entry lists for the handicap and class events are well filled, but in the L. A. MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and weakening of the system in a manner the patient can not account for. On examining the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes particles of albumen will appear, or the color be of a thin, milkish hue, again changing to a dark torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. The doctor will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs. Consultation free. A substitute for oil as a wave-breaker has been discovered. It consists of a thin cotton or silk net rendered non-submersible by being dipped into a special chemical composition. The net is thrown on the troubled waves, and immediately they are still. The inventor got his hint from observing that floating masses of seaweed always broke the force of the billows.
